ST. LOUIS, FORWARD OR BACKWARD?
The proposed bond issue represents only 8 per cent of St. Louis' assessed valuation. Its success will mean 100 per cent in the city's progress.

VOL. 74. NO. 275.

MAN TESTIFIES EAST SIDE POLICE OFFICER BEAT HIM

Earl Maloney Declares Before Commissioner That Lieut.
H. L. Walker and 2 Others Took Turns With Hose.

ANOTHER HEARING FOR WALKER FRIDAY

Complainant, Arrested on Robbery Charge, Is Represented by Committee of 15.

Testimony in the case of Lieut. Harry L. Walker, of the East St. Louis police force, charged with beating a prisoner to make him confess highway robbery, was heard last night by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, and decision was reserved until Friday, when additional witnesses will be heard.

The complaining witness, Earl Maloney, 22 years old, of 216 Exchange avenue, was represented by the Rev. William R. Evans, pastor of Bond Avenue M. E. Church and chairman of the Committee of 15 appointed to investigate the conduct of East St. Louis policemen toward prisoners.

Testifies He Was Beaten.
Maloney testified that following his arrest March 2, he was taken to the detectives' room at police headquarters and questioned by five officers, including Lieut. Walker. They told him, he said, that another prisoner had implicated him in a series of holdups and that they wanted him to "kick in." Lieut. Walker and two other officers, he said, took turns beating him on the head and back with a rubber hose.

"They asked me a lot of questions," he said, "and Lieut. Walker wrote a statement which he told me to sign. When I refused he beat me. He would strike me four or five times and then rest for a few minutes. He continued that for about 20 minutes. Then Detective Luther Hellig beat me and Detective Albert Hellig held my hands. They had me in the room about an hour and a half, and I finally signed the statement to avoid further punishment."

Maloney was subjected to a severe cross-examination by counsel for Lieut. Walker, but he stuck to his story. His mother and father, two physicians and several other witnesses testified to having seen welts on his back and sides and bumps on his head after his release from the police station.

Walker Denies Charges.
Lieut. Walker, who weighs 220 pounds, denied writing the statement, admitted beating the prisoner, who had implicated him in two saloon robberies. He quoted Maloney as saying to Fossman: "So long as you have snatched I may as well clean too."

Following the hearing the board adopted a resolution urging closer co-operation between the police, county officials and Federal officers in law enforcement, and recommending that when the license of a soft drink saloon is revoked for violation of liquor laws, it be not restored to the owner and that the premises from which the license is taken be regarded as a nuisance.

It was suggested that a meeting of the various law enforcement departments be held at an early date, for the purpose of devising ways and means by which there can be the closest co-operation in the enforcement of the law, and that the following persons be requested to be present: Federal Judge English, District Attorney Burnside, United States Marshal James C. White, Prohibition Agent Charles Short, Acting State's Attorney John Hamilton, Sheriff Martin Schnipper, Judge Joseph Meesick, Judge Silas Cook, Judge Motimer Millard, Corporation Counsel H. L. McCannery and Chief of Police W. J. McCannery.

The cases of Detectives Wilson and Hellig, who were charged with beating Walker in connection with Maloney's complaint, were postponed to Friday. Maloney is under indictment charging first degree robbery in connection with the holdup of a saloon at 1100 North Ninth street, East St. Louis.

The Rev. Mr. Evans complained to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners today that a stone was thrown at his automobile last night when he was driving past police headquarters. The side of the car was dented, he said.

HUSBAND SERVES ON JURY THAT GIVES WIFE DIVORCE

Decree Granted in Atlanta on Depositions by Woman in Newark, N. J.

ATLANTA, June 6.—The novel experience of a husband serving on a jury that granted his wife a divorce has just been brought to light here in the case of Mrs. Sara Myrtle Almond, who was granted a decree from Albert Irwin Almond, several months ago. Mrs. Almond did not attend the hearing, the divorce being granted on depositions taken from Newark, N. J., where she now resides. The decree is valid, according to lawyers in the case.

LONDON, June 6.—A great "No More War" demonstration is planned to feature the twenty-second international peace congress to be held here the last week in July. "Never Again" will be the congress motto. Several hundred delegates, representing every civilized state in the world, have signified their intention of attending.

The "No More War" demonstration will be held in Hyde Park. It is being organized by a committee representing the churches, the Labor party, League of Nations Union, Women's Co-Operative Guild, Women's International League, National Peace Council and many other societies.

AUGUST PROBST IS REPORTED Swiss Butler Who Fascinated Pittsburg Maids Sails on Mauretania.

NEW YORK, June 6.—August Probst, young Swiss butler whose heart affairs with Pittsburgh society girls at the exclusive Rolling Rock Club were alleged by his friends to have moved others to railroad him out of the country, was reported today on the Mauretania en route to Europe.

The Government engaged an attendant to accompany Probst, who attempted suicide by slashing his wrist at Ellis Island yesterday.

LILLIAN RUSSELL, OPERA STAR AND NOTED BEAUTY, DIES

Fatal Illness of Three Weeks Followed Fall on Ship During Storm When Returning From Europe.

HAD BEEN ON MISSION FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Was Wife of Pittsburg Editor and Publisher — For 30 Years Most Popular Actress on American Stage.

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore, who died at her home here early today, will be held in Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church Thursday afternoon. The body will then be placed in a vault until a suitable mausoleum can be erected by her husband, Alexander P. Moore, publisher of the Pittsburg Leader.

During the day many telegrams of condolence reached Moore and other members of the family from all parts of the country. They came not only from leaders in the theatrical profession, in which Mrs. Moore as the "Airy Fairy" Lillian of the operatic stage, was so long a striking figure, but from Government officials and leaders in society, who were pleased to number her among their friends.

War Work Recalled.
Among the messages which came early yesterday from persons who had been associated with her during the war in many patriotic activities, Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, talking over the telephone from Washington, referred to her as "Sergeant Russell," for such she was by right of an order issued by Major-General Barnett, when he commanded the United States Marine Corps. Soon after hostilities began Mrs. Moore was working as a volunteer recruiting agent for the navy. Gen. Barnett, struck with her success, summoned her to the marine corps and made her a Sergeant. She received and obeyed orders, just as did the other soldiers on recruiting duty, and at the end of hostilities was officially discharged from the service. This gave her the right to wear the uniform of a sergeant, which she exercised.

Lillian Russell, bright star of American comic opera for three decades and internationally known as a professional beauty, who died at 2:20 o'clock this morning, had been ill several weeks, following a shipboard accident while returning from Europe. Her death was unexpected, as her physicians two days ago announced she had passed the crisis and would recover.

Mrs. Moore later suffered a stroke, and yesterday afternoon she was ill that members of the family were summoned to the bedside. Her physicians, however, refused to give up hope, and early in the evening were so confident that she would eventually recover that they arranged for a conference to be held here this morning with Dr. W. Deaver of Philadelphia.

Thrown During Storm at Sea.
The accident which Dr. Schiller, doctor, one of her physicians, said was the primary cause of her illness and death, occurred when she was violently thrown on the ship during a storm. The effects of the injury were not immediately serious, nevertheless, and although she steadily failed in health after her arrival home, even those most closely associated with her were not aware of the decline. Mrs. Moore's trip to Europe was undertaken at the request of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the purpose of making an intensive study among prospective emigrants to the United States.

Mrs. Moore, who was very well known throughout the country for her interest in civic matters, was in great demand as a public speaker and only a short time prior to her death filled a number of such engagements. She was actively interested in civic affairs in this city and was a leader in women's movements.

In addition to her husband, there were present at her bedside during her last moments her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Calbit, and her niece, Mrs. M. A. Martin. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Suzanne Westford Allen of New York City and Mrs. Allen Leonard Colburn of Schenectady, N. Y.

Lillian Russell, the "queen of American opera," for more than 30 years starred in various operatic roles in the United States and England. She was one of the most popular singing actresses on the stage.

JUGO-SLAVIA NEGOTIATES $100,000,000 LOAN IN U. S. ON 8% BONDS SOLD AT 86 3/4

By the Associated Press. BELGRADE, June 6.—The Minister of Finance today signed a contract with the Blair syndicate, a New York firm, for a $100,000,000 loan at 8 per cent interest on bonds to be issued at 86 3/4.

The loan is to be issued in two slices, the first, amounting to $30,000,000, to be available three weeks after ratification of the loan by the National Assembly, and the remainder as it is needed by the Government within three years thereafter.

It is understood the $30,000,000 will be for the use of the Government and that the balance will be devoted to construction of ports on the Adriatic, railroad lines leading thereto and repairs on existing lines.

BLOODHOUNDS TURN OUT TO BE LUNCH HOUNDS

Dogs, After a "Poorbox" Thief, Quit Trail When They Came Upon Picnic Sandwiches.

A picnic at Blanchette Park, in the northwestern section of St. Charles, Mo., was ruthlessly disturbed by two bloodhounds on the trail of a "poorbox" thief yesterday afternoon.

When the dogs came in contact with the lunch they abandoned their search and it was with considerable difficulty, accompanied by great anxiety on the part of the picnickers, that the owner finally induced them to take the scent again.

A burglar got into St. Bernard's Catholic Church at St. Charles, Sunday night, and tampered with the "poor box." He did not get any cash, but he broke a window getting in. It was the second visit by a burglar to the church in two weeks. On the previous occasion $20 was taken from the "poor box."

The Rev. S. E. McNamara, pastor, consulted with Sheriff Grothe, and it was decided to get two bloodhounds to hunt for the thief. The owner guaranteed them to be real bloodhounds, but after the incident at the picnic many residents of St. Charles were ready to testify that they were grub hounds, with a preference for ham sandwiches and deviled eggs.

After the dogs had been dragged away from the lunch they again took up what purported to be the trail of the church burglar and followed it to St. Peters, eight miles northwest of St. Charles. There they became tired and would go no further. The burglar was not caught and the burglar's trail was not followed. The dogs were released and the picnic was resumed.

AMMONIA TANK EXPLODES AT SOUTH BROADWAY PLANT

Piece Sent Hurtling Through Roof to an Adjacent Building—No One Injured.

Explosion of an ammonia tank at the plant of the Herf & Frerichs Chemical Co., 4528 South Broadway, at 8 a. m. today, startled about 140 employees of this and an adjacent plant, and caused about $600 damage.

The tank, which was 12 feet high and six feet in diameter, was in a second-floor frame building. The explosion sent a piece of the tank hurtling through the roof and onto the adjacent roof of the Merck Chemical Co. The damage was to this roof. No one was injured.

Six young women employees of this Merck company became ill from the odor of the fumes from the tank and were sent home.

WARD CONFRONTS 'BLACKMAIL PLOT' WITNESS IN JAIL

Baking Company Officer
Is Said to Have Replied to Prisoner's Greeting.

CASE TO BE GIVEN TO GRAND JURY TODAY

Mrs. Ward and Two Maids Are Notified to Appear to Give Their Testimony at Inquiry.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 6.—By agreement between Judge Bleakley and District Attorney Weeks, the Ward case was not presented yesterday to the Supreme Court grand jury of Westchester County. At the suggestion of Judge Bleakley, a former law partner of John F. Brennan, one of Walter S. Ward's attorneys, who swore in the new jury, it was decided to present the case today to the hold-over May grand jury, which will report to Justice Mautschauer.

There were several developments, however, in the investigation of the slaying of Clarence Peters, former sailor, in a night pistol fight near the Kensico reservoir, for which Ward, son of the head of the Ward Baking Co., surrendered and is held under $50,000 bail. Mrs. Ward, wife of Walter Ward, appeared in White Plains, ready to testify with other witnesses before the grand jury, and was instructed to appear today.

Cunningham Still in Jail.
James J. Cunningham, whose tale of a blackmail plot landed him in the county jail, was ordered by Supreme Court Justice Seeger admitted to $5000 bail, which was not furnished. John Cienzo, picked up by Philadelphia police with a bullet hole in his arm, was eliminated from the case. Helen Blanchard, a widow, came forward with a statement that she saw Ward and Peters in a heated argument in front of the Bronx plant of the Ward Baking Co. on May 15, the night on which Peters was slain.

Word came from Haverhill, Mass., Peters' home, that his parents, who were asked to come here for the grand jury hearing but failed to do so, had arranged to sue Ward for $50,000 for the loss of their son's services.

Lulu Barrow, neyepnald for the Ward children; Amy Mild, household, and the members of the State police who examined Peters' body as it was found in the roadside, were on hand and will return today.

Ward Confronts Witness.
Later Ward drove up to the courtroom and went to Cunningham's cell. As Ward faced Cunningham the latter was reported to have said: "Hello, Ward, how are you?"

Ward was said to have looked surprised and to have replied: "What do you mean? I never met you before."

"Oh, yes you did. I know you. You probably don't know me with this mustache," Cunningham was said to have retorted.

Maurice J. McCarthy, Cunningham's lawyer, went back to get a writ of habeas corpus for the production of Cunningham in court. McCarthy contended Cunningham was being unlawfully held by Coroner Fitzgerald.

Story of Blackmail Plot.
McCarthy told the Court Cunningham met a man named Jackson about two weeks before the shooting of Peters, and heard of an alleged blackmail plot involving Ward, but refused to take any part in it. He said at 1:30 a. m. on May 15, the morning Peters' body was found, Jackson telephoned to Cunningham at the latter's home in the Bronx that Peters had been killed and a man named Rogers wounded. Jackson asked Cunningham to get a doctor.

Between 2 and 2:30 a. m., McCarthy said, Cunningham met Jackson and Rogers near his home. Cunningham went into his house to get overcoat for the wounded Rogers and when he came out Jackson and Rogers were gone. Subsequently, McCarthy added, Cunningham saw Jackson in Stamford. Jackson told him Rogers was too ill to be seen.

This was still another version of Cunningham's story.

"The Coroner had no right to commit this man," Justice Seeger said. The man is at liberty. I discharge him."

RETAILERS AGREE TO AID IN CONTROL OF COAL PRICES

Merchants' Organizations Pledged at Conference With Hoover to Prevent Undue Advances During Strike.

SOME INCREASE, HOWEVER, PREDICTED

Commerce Secretary Asserts
Prices Fixed With Operators
Do Not Justify Boost to Consumer.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—There is plenty of bituminous coal in the country for everybody for the current month at least, it was declared today at the White House. Pointing out that there is a continuing, slight increase in coal production officials declared no new emergency or crisis was threatened by the continuing miners' strike. The administration, however, will continue to follow the situation and maintain contact through the proper officials with both the miners' union and the operators of the mines.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary Hoover had completed another step today to hold coal prices at a reasonable level during the present strike in securing a pledge of voluntary co-operation by the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association to prevent undue price advances.

Co-operation of the association was pledged at a conference of members with the secretary yesterday by Rhoderick Stephens of New York, chairman of the association's board of directors, who told Hoover, however, that retail coal prices "will result" in an increase of as much as $1.75 a ton because of the advance in the price of coal at the mines.

The necessity for advancing the retail prices, he said, was due to the prices fixed by the operators and the long transportation now necessary for nonunion fields. Arrangements fixing fair prices with the operators, however, he added, had modified increases in the retail prices which might have reached even higher levels.

Hoover declared that he "simply would not stand" for retailers blaming the increases on the fair prices fixed with the operators, asserting that the wholesale price of coal had been reduced considerably and that those who had coal under contract were under a moral obligation to pass the benefits of the fair prices on to the public.

Stephens maintained that very few retailers had coal under contract and that there would have to be an increase in the price of retail coal due to the advance at the mines.

Hoover submitted that the continuing public must pay a reasonable handling charge for its coal above the cost of the fuel, asserting that the present demand for coal was not heavy, there being more coal in the market than needed and that there was no tendency of prices to harden.

Secretary of Labor Davis conferred today on general strike conditions with operators from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

BOOST IN PRICE OF COAL HERE LIKELY

City Will Have to Depend on Kentucky Field When Illinois Supply Is Exhausted.

St. Louis coal users, who now buy Illinois coal at $6.25 to $7.50 a ton, according to quality, will have to pay $8.75 to $9, delivered in the gutter, for Western Kentucky coal, when the Illinois coal is gone, if the Kentucky operators are permitted to charge $4.25 a ton at the mine, as they are demanding of Secretary Hoover.

E. J. Wallace, Commissioner of the Missouri Retail Coal Dealers' Association, who has been trying, without result, to arouse the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, made this statement to the Post-Dispatch today.

The National Retail Coal Merchants' Association is protesting in Washington against the fixing of a maximum of $3.50 at the mines in other fields, on the ground that it will mean an increase of $1.75 a ton to the consumer in Maine and the Northwest and in New York and Chicago. But the Kentucky operators are demanding of Secretary Hoover.

RAIL MECHANICS' PAID CUT; STRIKE VOTE TO BE TAKEN

Effect, in Brief, of Wage Cut Order

THE following explains in brief the effect of today's wage reduction order by the Railroad Labor Board:

Cuts approximately $60,000,000 annually from the wages of the federated shop crafts of the railroads. Reductions range from nothing (for supervisory employees) to nine cents an hour, depending upon classification.

Hits the pocketbooks of between 250,000 and 500,000 men. In February, 1922, the number of men in the shop crafts was 250,152. Under normal conditions this figure runs up to nearly half a million men.

Allots the maximum reduction of 9 cents an hour to the freight car men; does not cut wages of supervisory employees.

BONUS FOUND TO BE $5,719,000 SHORT,
IT IS ESTIMATED

Commission Reports Total of Claims Probably Will Number 145,000; The 10,
900 Already Paid Average $146 Each.

The State Bonus Commission today reported to Gov. Hyde that its estimate of the excess of valid claims for the State soldier bonus over the amount to be raised by sale of bonds for payment of the bonus, was $5,719,000.

Claims are still being received at the rate of 200 a day, and 129,000 valid claims are on hand. Those paid, numbering 10,900, averaged $146. The commission believes there will be 145,000 valid claims.

The bond issue for the payment of the bonus was $15,000,000. Accrued interest will add about $429,000, it is estimated, which the Legislature has the power to appropriate to the same purpose.

The bonus is paid to men who served in the war, at the rate of $10 a month for time in service.

No means of meeting the expected deficit has been determined, except that the claims will be paid fully, in the order in which they are received and approved, as long as the money lasts, and that the State will then have to consider means to pay the remainder.

EACH HOLDING OTHER BY THE SHOULDER, THEY 'SHOOT IT OUT'

Both Dead When Smoke Clears Away After Shootout Tried to Disarm Mexican.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 6.—Three men are dead at Los Indios, Cameron County, the result of a fight between a Mexican and a Texan, which was tried to be settled by a Mexican and a Texan, which was tried to be settled by a Mexican and a Texan.

The officer asked George to surrender his pistol and the latter, stepping forward as if to comply, said Carpenter in the abdomen. Carpenter drew his gun and each man, holding the other by the shoulder, emptied his pistol into the other's body. Both were dead when the smoke cleared away.

Andres Perez, believed to have tried to assist Carpenter in preserving his pistol and the latter, stepping forward as if to comply, said Carpenter in the abdomen. Carpenter drew his gun and each man, holding the other by the shoulder, emptied his pistol into the other's body. Both were dead when the smoke cleared away.

The larger cut was ordered for the "car knockers" because the board said it believed the work did not require the same skilled service as other branches of carmen's work. This heavier reduction for the freight car men came under especially severe criticism in the minority report, the labor members declaring there was no justification for discrimination in work.

Car cleaners, who now receive an average of $3.15 a day, were cut 3 cents an hour, or 40 cents a day. The mechanic, whose daily rate now averages from $6.11 for electrical workers to $6.18 for blacksmiths, will lose 16 cents a day under the new order.

$60,000,000 Reduction Ordered by Labor Board, Effective July 1, for 400,000 Men — Shop Mechanics Lose 7 Cents an Hour, Freight Car Men 9 — Supervisors Not Cut.

"CLAYTON ACT IS SWEEP ASIDE," SAYS GOMPERS

Labor Leader Denounces Supreme Court's Decision in Coronado Case, Holding Unions Liable for Damages.

GIVES CAPITALISTS FREE REIN, HE SAYS

Asserts There is "a Higher Power—Congress and the People"—That Will Rectify Court's Ruling.

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, June 6.—The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Coronado mine case yesterday was denounced today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as setting a precedent under which capital can "impose any condition on the working people of the country and they would dare not resist."

"The veteran labor leader, who arrived here today for the convention which begins next week, declared, however, that he believed there was 'some latent power over and above the Supreme Court—the Congress and the people of the United States, which would repudiate the court's ruling.'"

Gompers especially condemned the statement of Chief Justice Taft in reading the court's opinion.

"The comment of the Chief Justice that it was with great regret that the court finds itself unable to affirm the award of damages by the lower court is gratuitous, bitter and unforfeitable," said President Gompers.

"The court has, for the first time in the history of Federal legislation, laid down the principle that a voluntary corporation is liable to be held for damages by any act committed by one or more of its members, no matter how far unrelated they may be in distance or supervision."

"It is on a par with the famous Taft v. Leach case of 1905 in England, which held the same principle in spite of existing laws. Within a year Parliament passed the trades dispute act, in which the court decision was rectified."

"Congress has provided the Clayton anti-trust law, supplementary to the Sherman law of 1890, undertaking to remedy the decisions of the Federal courts in recent months, and the Clayton act specifically exempted labor from prosecution under the Sherman law."

"The Coronado case comes as the climax to the decision of the Supreme Court in recent months, and to the chief justiceship of Mr. Taft. While apparently placating the mine union from responsibility of damages, it established the principle that a union can be held responsible for the conduct of any of its members."

"Gompers referred to the textile workers' strike and other union strikes, expressing the opinion that any striking unions 'two of the under the Coronado ruling be held for any damages incurred by the employers due to the strike. Such a situation, he declared, was contrary to the intent of the authors of the Sherman law and in contradiction to it."

Opera Rehearsal Turned Into a Dance When Lights Go Out for an Hour

In Spite of Accident, However, "The Highwayman" Has a Performance of Unusual Excellence; First Public Presentation Tonight.

That gallant knight of the road, Capt. Scarlett, had just caroled on the Municipal Opera stage last night at the beginning of the second act of De Koven's "The Highwayman," and had doffed his crimson mask to chant an Irish ballad, when suddenly the lights went out.

"Most suspicious" came the voice of Frank Moulton out of the gloom, quoting one of the favorite sayings of Constable "Foxy" Quiller. It was in the midst of a dress rehearsal, in preparation for the performance of the night which will open the fourth season of municipal opera, that there occurred the first accident to the lighting system since the enterprise began.

Orchestra Becomes Jazz Band. Promptly several violinists in the orchestra converted their instruments into guitars by plucking the strings, the drummer muted his instrument, the drums got into action, and in a trice the musicians who had been playing De Koven's score were transformed into a jazz band. To fit the strains the chorus began dancing the newest steps instead of the classic gavotte of the first act, under the light of the moon and of pocket flashlights. The darkness continued for an hour and 15 minutes, after which the rehearsal was resumed and carried nearly to the close of the opera. The management called it an evening at 12:15 a. m.

Despite this contretemps, the rehearsal was a revelation to those who have followed the fortunes of the municipal opera since its inception. Thanks to the new policy of preparation, under which the chorus began its training last January, the rehearsal was smoother and more efficient than many a mid-week performance of previous years. None of the usual confusion, however, of the rehearsals, have often been scenes of utmost confusion, with the stage director breaking off the action every few minutes to hurl imprecations at the performers and compel them to repeat their evolutions again and again. Last night there was no interruption from Stage Director Rainger, or from the music director, and the rehearsal proceeded through without a pause, arousing the happiest anticipations for tonight's public performance.

As for the chorus, it may safely be said that no such organization has ever been seen here with a musical production, not only in point of numbers, but of youth, good looks, vocal ability and vivacity. For the first time, the chorus consists exclusively of St. Louisans, the nucleus of professional choristers of former years having been abandoned.

Shelvens the Vocal Luminary. In the role of the Napoleonic Constable, "Foxy" Quiller, the character of the Constable, played by Frank Moulton with his customary artistry. From last night's showing James Stevens seems likely to remain the vocal luminary of the night. Among the newcomers, the best impression was made by Arthur Geary, a robust tenor and an actor of skill.

For the first time, also, the stage settings are not in the hands of a stage director, but of a separate functionary. He is Lawrence Ewald, a St. Louis architect, who has designed many settings for the Little Theatre of the Actors Guild. His scene for the first act, the courtyard of the Cat-and-Fiddle tavern, is a handsome example of symmetrical and colorful construction.

Mayor Kiel's Statement.

Mayor Kiel, president of the Municipal Theater Association, issued today the following statement:

"Tonight our municipal opera opens to us. Your support of this wonderful undertaking in the past has made its present possible, and to what goal its future shall advance is directly commensurate with the efforts we put into it this summer. In calling upon the public to give its support, I wish to call to mind that no undertaking of a similar character has elicited such widespread commendation as this Municipal Opera. As a means of obtaining national advertising for our city it is unsurpassed."

"Last year's financial success has spurred us on to attempt bigger things. The Municipal Theater and its equipment have been improved. The cast engaged for this summer is greater and better than ever before."

"Municipal opera is your undertaking. It will remain and prosper, with the exception of the 'Big Four' and financial support. I have no uncertainty in saying that it is sufficient to announce its opening to you to guarantee its support."

It is in lower morals, thus reductions will not result in economies, the minority opinion said.

"Function Not Carried Out."

"The majority failed to carry out the function for which the board was created," continued the minority report. Such decisions, giving no explanation to the public of the process by which the majority arrived at the rates established, give the public an impression that these rates are not founded upon a careful consideration of facts.

"The duty of the labor board as a constructive, impartial body in providing means whereby railroad employees can have their legitimate human needs satisfied without recourse to stoppages and to enlighten the public so that through the state of unregulated industry and the confusion of propaganda, they shall be able to see the real facts as they affect the body politic. This decision fulfills neither of these duties."

Representatives of Rail Unions in Cincinnati for Conferences.

CINCINNATI, June 6.—Representatives of all railroad labor unions, with the exception of the "Big Four" brotherhoods, are in Cincinnati for the opening today of a series of conferences, during which the recent ruling of the United States Railroad Labor Board reducing wages of railroad workers will be under discussion.

B. M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, will preside.

Organizations whose chief executives, or their representatives are in attendance are blacksmiths, boiler-makers, signal men, machinists, electricians, clerks, maintenance of way men, stationers, engineers, telegraphers, carmen and sheet metal workers.

It was declared all rumors concerning a strike at this time were merely speculative. The conference has no power to take a strike vote, but will merely advise co-ordinate action.

Decision on Telegraphers' Pay Not to Be Ready July 1.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 6.—It was learned today that the United States Railroad Labor Board decision affecting telegraphers, the next class of employees to be dealt with in a wage ruling, will not be available for some time and undoubtedly will not be issued in time to become effective July 1, the date the maintenance of way and shop craft decisions take effect.

The reason for this, it was explained, is that the chief question in the telegraphers' case is not how much money shall be paid, but how inequalities of pay on different roads shall be settled.

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, June 6.—Fundamental changes in the Sherman antitrust law was advocated by Albert J. Beveridge, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, in speaking before the twenty-seventh annual convention of credit men which opened here today. The convention will close Friday.

The increasing antithesis between profits and just wages will result in lower morals, thus reductions will not result in economies, the minority opinion said.

BOARD DEFENDS PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS 'DELAY'

Cites Requirements of Law in Answering Property Owners' Protest; Changes Proposed.

The Board of Public Service, in preparing a reply to the complaint of property owners that frequently a year elapses between the filing of their request for a public improvement and the beginning of the work, cites that the legal course prescribed by the city charter for authorization of such improvement takes up a minimum of nine months and requires 11 months if more than unavoidable loss of time occurs.

President Kinsey of the board said today that he would recommend certain charter changes that would reduce the time 60 days and W. W. Horner, secretary of the board, has a suggestion for the saving of an additional 30 days.

The board will make its recommendations to the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor for an explanation to be made to complaining property owners.

President Kinsey outlined the present course as follows: Assuming that property owners file their request for an improvement on Jan. 1, about 10 days is required for preparation of the necessary ordinance, defining the work and the tax district affected. Six weeks are required for passage of the tax district ordinance in the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor is required to hold the ordinance 10 days before signing, by which time March 5 has been reached.

Under the charter, 30 days must elapse as a period during which a referendum may be instituted. So, after April 5, the ordinance is not to be made its present possible, and to what goal its future shall advance is directly commensurate with the efforts we put into it this summer. In calling upon the public to give its support, I wish to call to mind that no undertaking of a similar character has elicited such widespread commendation as this Municipal Opera. As a means of obtaining national advertising for our city it is unsurpassed."

REFUGEE PRINCESS ADMITTED TO U. S.

Russian Noblewoman Told of Wandering Over Europe Pursued by Soviet Agents.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary of Labor Davis, through the Bureau of Immigration, today ordered importation authorities at New Orleans to admit Princess Ivan Tcherenitchew, of the erstwhile Russian aristocracy, to the United States. The Princess claims American citizenship.

After making a transatlantic voyage partly as a stowaway without food and partly as a stewardess on the steamer Texandria, the Princess was ordered admitted unconditionally. Secretary Davis said today he had found that the Princess had complied with and was admissible under the general immigration laws.

Admission of the Princess, who claims she was born in Louisville, Ky., in 1881, ends more than a year of wandering over Europe in an effort to reach safely the United States. After her arrival in the United States she told immigration authorities she was followed as she made her way across Europe on foot by Russian agents seeking papers of the Russian royalist regime which had been entrusted to her by her husband, just before he was crucified by bolshevik troops over the gate of his estate at Craschano, near New Novogord. She also explained she was seeking her 8-year-old son, who she declared was sent away by her husband to a place of safety.

Princess Tcherenitchew arrived in America without funds, but several offers to assist her have been received through the Department of Labor.

Princess Says She Was Elizabeth Schlich of Louisville, Ky.

By the Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, June 6.—Princess Tcherenitchew, who was today unconditionally admitted to the United States by Secretary of Labor Davis, told local immigration officials her maiden name was Elizabeth Schlich, and that Louisville, Ky., was her girlhood home.

TRANSATLANTIC FLYERS TO GO ON TO RIO JANEIRO

Business Stops and Town Turns Out to Greet Portuguese Captains When They Land at Pernambuco.

By the Associated Press. PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, June 6.—The Portuguese naval aviators, Capt. Sacadura and Coutinho, whose arrival yesterday from the island of Fernando Noronha completed their transatlantic flight from Lisbon, plan to hop off for Rio Janeiro tomorrow.

The aviators were given a monster reception as they landed in the harbor. At least 100 large boats and many smaller craft belonging to athletic societies and rowing clubs went out to meet them. Before coming down the aviators took a flight over the city.

The whole population was delirious with excitement. All ships at anchor sounded their whistles, church bells were rung, automobiles honked their horns and factories blew their whistles—all in one deafening medley.

In spite of the rain, the streets of the city were thronged and all business was stopped for the day. The population staged a parade as the aviators came ashore.

"Flight Demonstrates Efficiency of New Air Navigation."

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—The flight from Lisbon to Brazil demonstrated, as intended, "the practical efficiency of the new methods of air navigation," Viscount d'Almeida, Portuguese Minister here, declared in a statement issued when informed of the success of the venture.

One presented by Acting Chairman McKensie of Illinois provided for the acceptance of Ford's offer for the property on condition that the Gorgas steam plant be operated. The other, submitted by Representative Wright, Democrat, Georgia, called for unconditional compliance with the terms of the Ford proposal.

House Republican leaders announced that action on the measure would be deferred at least until delivery of reports by their authors explaining them in detail and that time would be given the House to analyze each of the documents. After that had been accomplished it was said, a decision would be made as to when actual consideration of the proposed legislation would begin.

It also developed that the vote of 12 to 9, by which the committee favorably reported the McKensie bill, did not reflect the sentiment or attitude of the committeemen toward all provisions of the measure. Many of its important sections, it was pointed out, would be subject to amendments on the floor when the fight was opened there.

Conflicting opinions still exist as to whether the Gorgas project, some members are opposed to the proposed 100-year lease of the water power projects, to the proposed sale of the nitrate plants, to the provision requiring the Government to finance construction of dam No. 3. They contended that Ford should pay for dam No. 3 and that the nitrate plants should be leased rather than sold outright in order that they may be kept in a stand-by condition for production in war time.

A struggle on each of these questions was predicted before a final vote on the acceptance or rejection of either bill was reached. Both have appeared confident they would win in the end.

Asked whether the embassy was bringing the case to the attention of the American State Department, Sabetta said it would do so as all other means of getting just Mrs. Campanella should fail.

"The Embassy's Attitude." "We have full and complete confidence that the State authorities will take appropriate action," said Sabetta. "We do believe that public opinion would not allow a case of this character to go unattended. The American people have a way to defeat justice, happened to Campanella, it happened to anyone—an American or Frenchman—as an Italian."

ESCAPING BURGLAR LEAVES TRAIL OF BLOOD FROM HOME

Victor Flees When Headlights of Auto Reveal His Presence to Housholder.
Robert Borden, 3023A May ave-ue, was putting his automobile in a garage at the rear of his home at 2 o'clock last night when the headlights revealed a burglar attempting to get into a window at the rear of his home.
When Borden called to the man,
the latter fled over a fence into an adjoining yard and from there to an alley. The burglar left a trail of blood due, the police believed, to having cut his hand or wrist when he broke the window in attempting to get in. They followed the trail for nearly two blocks, where it was lost.

INCREASE IN FRENCH TRADE

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 6.—France gained 780,000,000 francs in her trade balance with the United States during the first quarter of this year, according to official statistics issued today.
Her importations amounted to 710,000,000 francs, as compared with 1,280,000,000 for the same period last year. Her exportations to the United States amounted to 2,000,000,000, compared with 220,000,000 during the first quarter of 1931.
This is the second time since 1904 that the trade balance has been momentarily in favor of France. The total amount of foreign trade diminished by $26,000,000 francs, importations being $30,000,000 less, which turned the balance in favor of France.

An Easy Way For Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

Strong, Straightforward Advice to Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women.

If you are thin, scrawny and undeveloped, if your face is peaked and your cheeks and neck exhibit unsightly holowness, if you are certain that your nervous system is at the bottom of the trouble, you can eat three, yes, four, substantial, fat producing meals a day, but as long as your stomach has an insufficient supply of nerve force this food you eat will pass out of the body with little if any benefit.

In order to assimilate properly the nourishing food you eat and convert it into healthy tissue and fat the nervous system must be put in first-class shape and until that is done you might eat as well quit trying to put on flesh.
Your system is starving for something that will turn the food you eat into healthy stay-there flesh and it can only be done in one way—by correcting faulty nervous digestion.

Thin, nervous, run-down people, however, with impoverished blood and half starved looks are hailing with delight a quick and certain maker of solid flesh called EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATE. This is unequalled for repairing faulty digestion and correcting nervous digestive troubles. In fact, the makers of Evans' Triple Phosphate guarantee that "one month's treatment will increase your weight by several pounds and within ten days make you feel like a new being. Full of ambition, vigor and a desire to accomplish things." Judge & Delph Drug Co., Erie, Pa.; Dr. Co., Wolff-Wilson Pharmaceuticals, St. Louis, Mo., and leading druggists everywhere have agreed to supply Evans' Triple Phosphate and it can only be done in one way—by correcting faulty
nervous digestion.

Caution: While Evans' Triple Phosphate accomplishes wonders in nervous system troubles and as a general nerve tonic, it should not be taken by anyone who objects to a few additional pounds of solid stay-there flesh.

For Thin Waists and Sleeveless Gowns

(Toilet Tips) A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered talcum and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine Delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

CENTRAL TELEPHONE CO. GIVEN BULB REPLACEMENT CONTRACT

As Firms Submit Identical Bids Each Year, Awards Are Made by Rotation.

The Central Telephone Electric Co. of 2018 Locust street was today awarded by G. H. Oette, City Supply Commissioner, the contract for furnishing electric light bulbs for replacement in all city departments for the fiscal year starting April 15, on its bid of a 34 per cent discount from the list price of the lamps and 2 per cent additional discount for cash. The contract amounts to about $25,000. Nearly 60,000 bulbs are replaced annually. McKee K. Clark, 1729 Pine street, offered a discount of 38 per cent, less 2 per cent for cash, but the bid was rejected because the lamp to be furnished did not meet specifications. Ten other concerns made the same bid as the Central Telephone Electric Co. As the firms, which handle either one of two brands of bulbs, submit identical bids each year, selection is made by rotation, Oette said.

While on a pastoral call yesterday in a residential district, the Rev. C. W. Gant, executive secretary of the Knox County Law Enforcement League, whiffed a peculiar scent. Following his nose he saw a man leave a nearby house with a package under his arm. The preacher raider has police powers and he placed the suspect under arrest, the package proving to be a half gallon jar of moonshine liquor.

COCOANUTOIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Multisified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisified.

Rehearsals are in progress for a large lawn show which will be given at the home of Miss Jane Doty, 4351 Maryland avenue, at 8 p. m. next Friday for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. Approximately 100 pupils of the Field School are promoting the affair under the direction of Miss Antoinette Dames.

The evening's entertainment will include a play, "The Bird House Hunting," by the pupils of room 9, Field School, a pageant, "The Masque of Childhood," by pupils of room 6, and several song and aesthetic dancing numbers. Following the program refreshments will be served. The entire proceeds of the evening's activities will be devoted to the fund for furnishing milk and ice to tenement children.

Four contributions added $14.95 to the Milk and Ice Fund yesterday. "The West End Charity Circle" sent $10 through its treasurer, Mrs. W. R. Samuel of 6030 Waterman avenue, and $1 was received from an anonymous donor who wrote: "Enclosed find my bit to help your good work along. Sorry cannot make it more." Mrs. W. C. Brown of Kirkwood sent $2.40 which she stated was the receipts of an entertainment given by several Kirkwood girls, and $1.56 came from Mildred Henderson, Virginia Herbin and Dorothy Achuff of Wagoner place, who presented an entertainment recently and earned that amount for the fund.

$576,021 OF AUTO LICENSE REVENUE PLACED IN ROAD FUND

Total of $1,228,725 Derived From Issue of Licenses and Permits for 74,428 Machines.

State motor car licenses issued for touring cars and trucks in St. Louis and St. Louis County to date total 74,428. This is an increase of 5696 over the registration one year ago.

Revenue derived from the issue of all motor licenses, chauffeurs' and operators' permits totals $1,228,725.60. Of this amount $652,703.91 is on deposit in St. Louis banks, and the remainder, $576,021.69, has been forwarded to the State Treasurer to be placed in the State good road fund.

The licenses issued from Feb. 1 to date total: Motor cars, 41,214; trucks, 13,214; chauffeurs, 10,007; operators, 2080; motor cycles, 1016; truck trailers, 255.

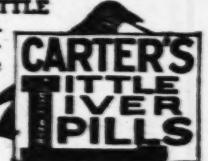

Mother Seeks Missing Son.

Elmer M. Newcomb, 17, of 106 Gray avenue, Webster Groves, has disappeared. Mrs. Charlotte Le Ryer, his mother, said he took the 6 o'clock train last Wednesday morning for St. Louis to go to work in a shoe factory here. He has not been heard from since. He never had been away from home over night before. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall, has dark brown hair, blue eyes and when last seen wore a dark suit, gray cap and two-colored tan sport shoes.

RADIO SUGGESTED AS THE BRIDGE TO MARS

Noted Astronomer in K S D Talk Says Science Sees Hope of Possible Communication.

In radio lies the earth's only hope for communication with Mars, in the opinion of Father Martin S. Brennan, the noted astronomer-priest.
Father Brennan spoke over the radio-phonograph at Station K S D of the Post-Dispatch last night on the subject, "Mars, Our Nearest Celestial Neighbor," and discussed the points which have been subjects of controversy among astronomers and fiction writers for the last 50 years.

The question of the habitability of Mars has been disposed of in the explanation that our knowledge of the atmospheric and heat conditions of that planet would lead to the almost certainty that life like that of the earth could not exist on Mars. Mars has from one-third to one-half as much heat and light as the earth, and its atmosphere is much rarer than that of the earth. Also, said Father Brennan, the immense size of the orbit of Mars, its year being 687 days, makes the extremes of heat and cold very great, and would indicate that human beings could not live there. So many things enter into the matter of probable inhabitants, however, that it is impossible to do more than theorize on the subject, he declared.

As for signaling Mars, his answer to this is that, having reached the limit of the power of the telescope, our only hope is in some other means of being able to send messages to Mars or see messages sent from there. Radio, he said, has made such rapid progress in the short time since it was evolved that that may be the ultimate solution of the problem, and some time the earth and Mars may be able to communicate by means of the wireless telephone or telegraph, or an improvement on the present method of propelling sound waves through space.

The reason for this discussion of Mars is the fact that at present Mars is nearer the earth than at any time since 1909. Mars is in what astron-

Test These Vitamins
For Only 10 Days

This people everywhere are urged to go to their druggists and get a box of Alexander's Vitamins, which cost only a few cents. Then use them according to directions for ten days. If at the end of that time they have not increased the weight materially, enriched the blood and created a new vitality and energy your druggist will be glad to refund your money.

Alexander's Vitamins are not to be confused with other "vitamine" products on the market today. They are guaranteed to contain no drugs. For this reason Alexander's Vitamins are widely recommended by physicians. They also are guaranteed to contain all known vitamine types (Fat Soluble A, Water Soluble B and Water Soluble C).

Many thousands of this people all over the country have tried this wonderful discovery and found Alexander's Vita-mines unequalled for building firm flesh and rich red blood with a resulting energy and vitality.

omers designate an opposition at present. That is, it, the earth and the sun are in a straight line, or this will be the case on June 10. On June 18, however, Mars will be closer to the earth by several thousand miles than on June 10, due to the great elongation of the ellipse of its orbit. This eccentricity of orbit makes the periods of its opposition irregular and therefore the present condition is the more notable. In 1924 Mars will come still nearer the earth, he said.

The big red star we see in the evening, the one in the southeastern heavens which does not twinkle, is Mars. This star or planet, will grow brighter each evening until June 18, and then it will begin to grow less bright until it practically disappears.
Many other interesting facts and figures about Mars were told by Father Brennan.

Two long distance telephone messages came in to Station K S D following Father Brennan's talk to report perfectly clear hearing of the program. One was from Harry W.
Panzler at De Soto, Mo., and the other was from George Saunders of Alton, Ill.

The St. Louis Council of the Knights of Columbus, giving an entertainment tonight in its building, Grand and Olive, will have as one of its features a radio concert. The program sent out by K S D will be amplified by means of a loud speaker.

Announcement

When we announced the return this Spring to our Pre-war Selling Platform—One Quality, One Profit, One Price
—the response resulted in a Record Breaking Regal Rush in every Regal Store.

Our One-Price Policy crowded our stores with customers and filled our factory with rush orders, and we have been working overtime ever since the Easter Season to catch up with a 65% increase in sales, which broke all records in the history of this business.

This is the first time since the Opening of the Spring Season that we have been in a position to tell our old customers and new friends that our stock is now replenished with new Summer Styles, and our Stores are ready once more to give you the Regular Regal Service on the old Regal Platform.

DRAINAGE CANAL PROJECT MEETING MUCH OPPOSITION

Business Organizations in Granite City Indorse Attitude of Commercial Club in Opposing Work.

INDIVIDUAL OPINIONS ON PROJECT OFFERED

Benefits From $8,000,000
East Side Proposition Are Held to Be Doubtful, and Expense Too Great.

The East Side Manufacturers' Association, membership of which includes the heads of the various industrial plants in Granite City, and the Granite City Realty Club, have indorsed the attitude of the Granite City Commercial Club in opposition to the proposed $8,000,000 drainage canal along the foot of the bluffs east of Granite City, Venice, Madison and East St. Louis.

As has been stated, the Commercial Club, through its attorney, has warned the Board of Trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District that if construction of the canal is resumed legal steps will be taken to halt the work.

The comprehensive survey of the drainage canal project, published in the Post-Dispatch May 26, was heartily approved by officers of the three Granite City organizations. Their comments follow:

William Champion, president of the Commercial Club and Postmaster of Granite City: "The Post-Dispatch article rendered a real service to the taxpayers of the East Side because it called their attention to a matter of great concern to themselves and to the entire district. I know nothing about the merits of the canal project from an engineering point of view, but, as a layman, I do know that an enormous amount of money is involved. If the project goes through, the entire financial resources of the district for eight or 10 years will be dissipated."

Post-Dispatch Survey Appreciated.
M. H. Ward, secretary of the East Side Manufacturers' Association: "I have heard the Post-Dispatch's survey of the canal project applauded by members of this organization and by individual taxpayers of Granite City. It was indeed a service to be appreciated. Publicity is one of the vital forces in a cause of this kind, where taxpayers apparently are helpless by reason of the unlimited authority conferred by statute upon the levee board. The Manufacturers' Association, believing the interests of all taxpayers of the East Side can be furthered by the discontinuance of the project, has indorsed the attitude of the Commercial Club."

John Masserang, president of the Granite City Realty Club: "I have lived in this district 35 years and come in contact with lots of people. There has been much comment upon the Post-Dispatch article and all of a complimentary nature. There is a great deal of opposition to the canal project. It is not practical and it entails a vast amount of money. The people of the district will receive no benefit from the canal. It will subject the district to an overflow from the Mississippi River in the event of the river reaching an extreme stage."

Other Adverse Comment.
A. F. Howe, head of the Howe Safety Appliance Co., and former president of the Commercial Club: "Individually, I am opposed to the canal because I feel that it involves the expenditure of too much money without rendering any benefit whatever to the taxpayers who will have to pay for it."

George E. Whitte, Granite City realty dealer: "The canal may benefit a few landowners in East St. Louis, but it will not accomplish anything for the district as a whole. I am unalterably opposed to the project, and I believe the Post-Dispatch has awakened the taxpayers of the East Side to a realization that their money is being wasted."

R. E. Robertson, Mayor of Granite City: "The Post-Dispatch has given the taxpayers of the East Side an opportunity to express their sentiments. I know nothing of the merits of the canal project, but since that article appeared in the paper I have heard many expressions of opinion, and the prevailing point of view seems to be that the canal is something that will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars without giving them any benefits in return."

COURT ALLOWS $17,995 CLAIM AGAINST H. B. GRAHAM ESTATE

Of This Amount $16,000 Was for Attorney Fees for Attempt to Break Trust Fund.

The St. Louis County Probate Court yesterday allowed the $17,995.50 claim of Truman P. Young, an attorney with offices in the Central National Bank Building, against the estate of Henry B. Graham, who was shot and killed by his negro chauffeur Nov. 21 last. Of Young's claim, $16,000 was for services in the unsuccessful suit of Graham to break an irrevocable trust fund of $500,000 established by him for himself and heirs in 1916. The rest was for other legal services.

Edward Terry, Public Administrator of St. Louis County, said that

Young's approved claim increased to $40,000 the claims against the Graham estate, while assets of but $6000 are available, outside of the trust fund. There is a question whether this can be considered part of the estate in paying off Graham's indebtedness.

COOPERATIVE FRUIT MARKETING IN ILLINOIS

About Three-Fourths of Truck Crops Thought to Be Handled by Modern Method.

By the Associated Press.

CENTRALIA, Ill., June 6.—About three-fourths of the fruit and vegetable crop of Southern Illinois is being marketed co-operatively this year, it is estimated by C. E. Durst of the Illinois Agricultural Association, as the result of the organization last year of the Illinois Fruit Exchange, of 1000 members in eight counties.

One local of the exchange, at Villa Ridge, had marketed co-operatively so far this year $100,000 worth of strawberries and asparagus, it was stated.

"This is the first tryout for co-operation among Southern Illinois fruit producers," Durst said. "They are finding it a success. The organization here is formed along the same lines as the successful co-operative fruit organizations in California."

"Many natives of Illinois do not know that Illinois is esteemed by every produce dealer for the quality of her fruit and vegetables. This State leads the country in the production of early apples of several varieties. One county, Marion, is the foremost county in the United States in the production of pears. Calhoun County is said by produce experts to have the finest flavored early apples grown anywhere."

"It has only been lack of organization and of up-to-date co-operative marketing methods of packing, grading and advertising that have so far caused Illinois to be so little known as a fruit state. The Illinois Agricultural Association, in its organization of the Illinois Fruit Exchange, intends to keep the product of the co-operative producers at such a high quality of grading, packing and quality as to make it famous in all markets. The Illinois product will be extensively advertised with trade names showing that it is Illinois grown."

"Before the summer is over most of the leading locals of the Illinois Fruit Exchange will have their own producer-owned warehouses and packing plants. The first of these is now being constructed near Anna."

All of the 1000 members, Durst said, were stockholders in the association.

MAJOR, WHO CRITICISED ARMY SYSTEM, SET BACK 50 FILES

Malcolm W. Nicholson Wrote to President, Charging Prussianism System Existed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMP DIX, N. J., June 6.—Malcolm Wheeler Nicholson, about whose head has waged a military turmoil since he wrote a letter to President Harding in February charging that "Prussianism" exists in the regular army, was found guilty of technical violation of the regulations by a courtmartial board at Camp Dix yesterday.

On the more serious charges involving his discipline and integrity, he was acquitted on all specifications. The accused earlier in the day had acknowledged fully his indiscretion to the President's letter, so that the findings of the court are regarded by his friends as a signal victory.

As a penalty for violation of the Ninety-sixth Article of War in writing and publishing the President's letter, Maj. Nicholson was sentenced by the court to a penalty of 50 files. This means he is put back in the line of promotion behind 50 other Majors whom he now ranks.

EAST ST. LOUIS COUNCIL VOTES FOR $504,000 SEWER PROJECT

Lansdowne Drain Will Be 18 Miles Long and Will Cost About $504,000.

The East St. Louis City Council yesterday adopted a resolution providing for an ordinance for the construction of the Lansdowne sewer at an estimated cost of $504,000. The sewer is to connect with the present sewer system of East St. Louis at Seventeenth street and Lynch avenue, and will be about 18 miles in length.

Mayor Stephens and Commissioner Whalen, in voting against the resolution, said they did so because they

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, unchanged, afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Sunday Morning Newbury.

AM one of those cliff-dwellers who live in West End apartments, but the condition against which I wish to complain exists, I am sure, in all sections of the city. It is the nuisance of having the quiet of the early hours of Sunday mornings harshly interrupted by the piercing cries of the newshy.

Not that the newshy should not be permitted to peddle his wares, for it is evident that many lads, some of whom are schoolboys making their own way, gain their entire week's earnings with the sale of Sunday papers, but let them not be permitted to split the Sabbath's silence until a reasonable hour. By a reasonable hour I mean 9 or 10 o'clock, by which time a person can have gathered the two or three extra hours of sleep which makes Sunday a desirable day. And for the early morning churchgoers who maintain that everyone should be up bright and early and on the way to services, I also plead that the peace of the early walk to church should be preserved.

Such an arrangement would work no hardship on the newshys, as the basis of competition would remain unchanged, with only one difference being that they would start their sales later.

Let all those who have been affected by this unpleasant condition, especially the dwellers in the densely populated apartment districts, join with me in demanding of our Board of Aldermen that this situation be changed.

A CLIFFDWELLER.

The Dandelion Discovery.

CONCERNING the "Dandelion Death" discovery in today's issue, allow me to say that if the "University of Wisconsin" made this "great" discovery, the Weekly London Telegraph and other Scotch weeklies recommended iron sulphate as an eradicator for dandelions. I possess a copy of Telegraph's issue of 1908.

Tower Grove Park Improvement.

I BELIEVE the City Park, Forestry or Street Departments will agree, upon inspection, that the section of Tower Grove Park along King's highway boulevard from Reber place to Arsenal street is an eye-sore and a blot on the city's appearance which should be removed. In past years the weeds reached a height of three to four feet. Right now they are about two feet high. There are just south of the entrance three dead trees. Adjacent there are also a few trees which are practically dead.

The Tower Grove Park management within the past year removed a few dead trees at this entrance to the park, which were more than 20 feet from the curb, and made other improvements. The residents of this vicinity take this means of thanking Mr. Guernsey, general manager of Tower Grove Park, for his action. My understanding is that the ground which is within 20 feet of the curb comes under the jurisdiction of the city, and is supposed to be sidewalk space. This matter has been brought to the city's attention a number of times during the past two years, without any results.

The neighbors here cannot understand why so much money is spent on beautifying Forestry Park and the Grand avenue side of Tower Grove Park, while nothing is being done to the aforementioned section.

The property owners in this vicinity would be grateful for a few lines in these columns from the Park, Forestry or Street Departments (whichever has jurisdiction), also Tower Grove Park management, stating their views.

A Veteran in Need.

I AM an ex-service man, having served 28 months, 13 months overseas, was gassed, which has completely ruined my health. My doctor says in order for me to regain my health I must go west. But I must have money to make the trip. Is there some one that will buy my bonus or advance me money on same. My bonus calls for the limit, or $250. Can I get $210 on it? My number is 48968.

The Motor Boor.

THE line which divides the motorist and the pedestrian is the fact that the motorist, being physically the greater, does not always observe the rules of courtesy which he would have to observe did he not enjoy physical superiority. If the motorist is a boor at heart his machine gives him the power to be a boor in practice.

One of the common practices of the motor boor is to stop his machine on a crossing of a downtown street. The only chance for a pedestrian to cross such a street as Locust, for instance, is when the traffic on the street he is crossing is obliged to stop for traffic passing on the street he is crossing. But how can he cross when a big car stops right on the crossing? He can walk around it, of course, but this doesn't forgive the discourtesy of the motorist. And by the time he is turning the end of the motorist's car the line may be again in motion whereupon the pedestrian is obliged to retire and camp on the curb indefinitely.

Our traffic cops are impressed only with the importance and safety of vehicles. For them the pedestrian does not exist.

UNDER DOG.

LAW AND UNION LABOR.

Dismissing the suit against the United Mine Workers of America and holding that organization not liable for damages or for restraint of interstate commerce in the Coronado case, the United States Supreme Court defined the legal status, responsibilities and liabilities of labor organizations under the Sherman antitrust law. The questions of responsibility and liability were raised in the suit and the court took occasion to go thoroughly into them.

Chief Justice Taft, who wrote the opinion, declared that labor organizations, although unincorporated, were punishable in strikes, which they ordered and directed, for restraint of interstate commerce and were liable for damages by organized strikers in the conduct of the strike. Their funds may be attached for damages.

The legal liability of individual members of labor unions has been established, but this is the first sweeping opinion holding labor unions under the law for acts done by strikers under their direction. The court finds that the organized union's legal responsibility and liability arises from the necessities of existing conditions in which labor organizations which exercise great powers have been recognized and given rights and privileges under the laws. It asserts the principle that rights and privileges in law necessarily carry obligations, responsibilities and liabilities.

It is impossible to deny the soundness of the principle. To recognize in law the right of labor to organize and to exert great powers affecting the interests of employers and the public, to provide for collective bargaining and for settlement of disputes through labor organizations and yet hold them exempt from the operation of laws for the protection of public and private rights and exempt from liability for damages perpetrated under their direction, would be abnormal. It would set up a privileged class exercising power, collecting and expending large funds, having rights and privileges and protection under the law, but free from all legal obligations, responsibilities and liabilities.

The tremendous growth of labor organizations, with constantly increasing power which may be used with ruinous effect against both public and private interest, the fact that they have become vital factors in basic industry and public service, made it imperative that their legal status be fully defined. The Supreme Court in doing this has ruled that they are subject to the Sherman antitrust law and are not immune from its provisions when through their power and action interstate commerce is restrained or damages are inflicted. They must answer to the law.

EVIDENCE OF BETTER TIMES.

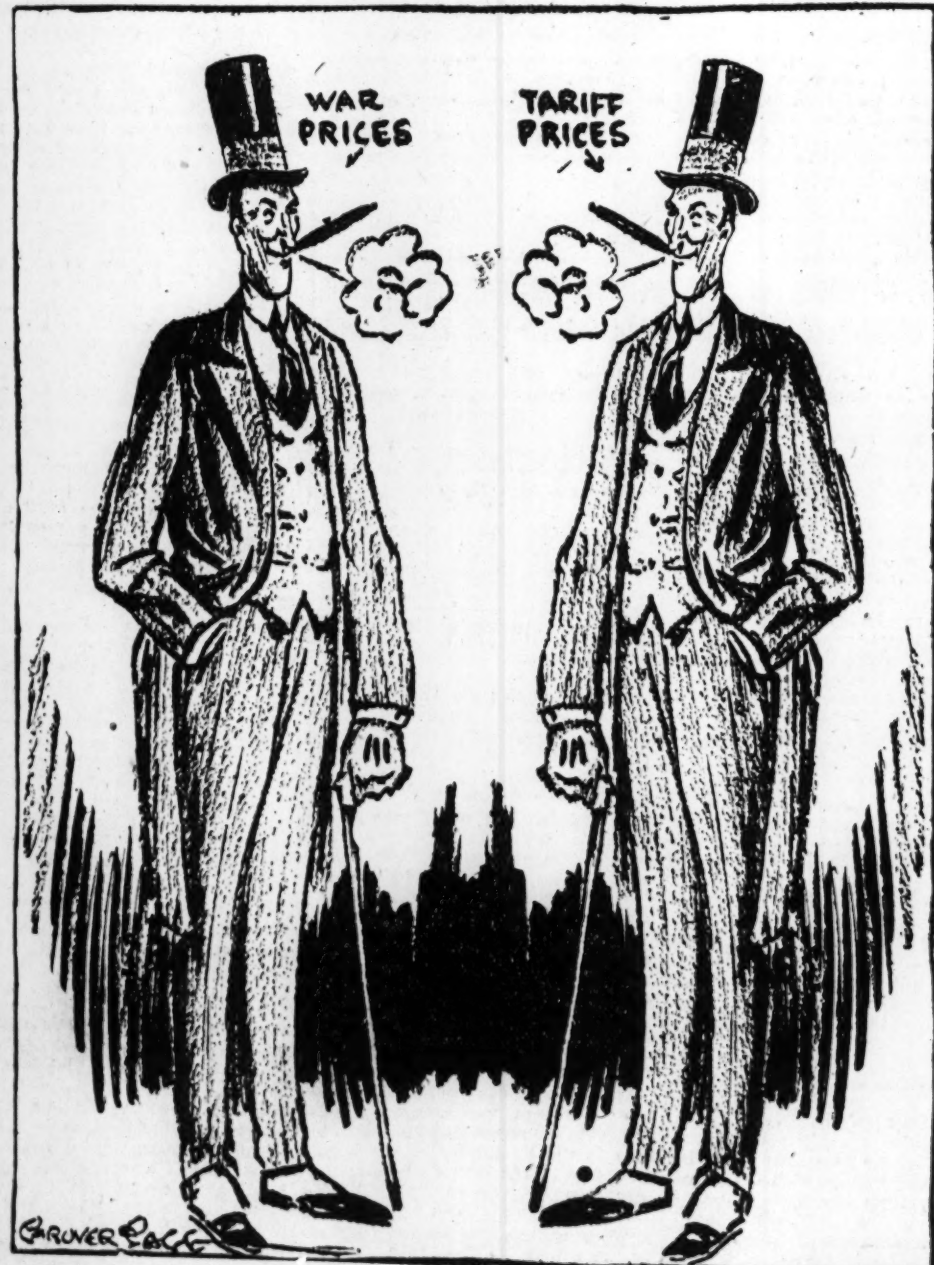

Seeing is believing, and the presence of the "Prosperity Special," consisting of 20 mammoth oil-burning locomotives for the Southern Pacific line, in East St. Louis today, en route for the Southwest, is a visible, tangible evidence of the approach of better times. Along with the almost daily news of the decrease of unemployment, this train of a score of the most powerful freight engines ever turned out by the Baldwin Locomotive Works should help to greatly increase that confidence without which business and commerce cannot succeed.

This train is a part of a single order of 50 such locomotives built for the Southern Pacific line, all of which are now ready for delivery, the balance to be forwarded as rapidly as possible. The 20-locomotive train, now on exhibit at Twenty-first and State streets, East St. Louis, weighs, without the coal-burning engines used to haul it, over 6000 tons. To move it to its destination is a feat in railway management, six coal-burning engines having been necessary to take it around the famous Horseshoe Curve in the Alleghenies.

The business men at the head of the Southern Pacific system manifested their faith in the return of prosperity when they gave this order for 50 giant locomotives. And we can be sure their faith will not be disappointed. The larger part of Europe is gradually settling down to business, because it must. Even the reparations question has been made easier of solution by the breathing spell granted to Germany. Our immediate business problems are being solved, one of the proofs of reviving confidence being the high level in Liberty Bonds. Complete recovery is only a matter of time and honest work and the revival of industry in Europe.

A PRACTICAL FAILURE.

The proposal submitted to the Constitutional Convention by Henry Parks Lay of Warsaw to abolish the referendum and increase the number of signatures on initiative petitions from 5 to 8 per cent of the voters in two-thirds of the congressional districts will doubtless be followed by other suggestions. Legislation by initiative and referendum has been the subject of rather spirited controversy in Missouri recently, while at no time during the experiment has it met the expectation with which it was adopted. Under the circumstances, then, prolonged discussion of this question may be looked for which will epitomize the history of ballot-box legislation in other states as well as in Missouri and enable the convention finally to take informed action.

As the Post-Dispatch has previously pointed out, the percentage of required signatures now is ridiculously negligible; it invites the abuses that have been practiced and assures their continuance on an ascending scale. This is particularly true of the referendum, but the initiative is also susceptible of being used for vexatious ends.

It is well known, of course, that the initiative and referendum are philosophically at variance with our scheme of representative government. It is known, too, that though attractive, theoretically, they have failed practically. In actual operation they have been of no constructive value. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that, in Missouri, they have been, under the present initiative and referendum, a nuisance which is slowly maturing into a recognized menace.

What safeguards should be thrown about the law is a question for the convention fairly to consider.

What so constant as the War Department records? Anthony Penola of Brooklyn the other day celebrated the fourth anniversary of his death in action by getting married.

ST. LOUIS' SIX-FOOT BALLOT.

The people of Missouri, having asked for a drink of democracy, have been given a drowning. As an analogy to what they have to contend with in the present primary ballot this is no exaggeration. The ballot to be handed Republican voters in St. Louis at the August primary will contain 250 names of candidates and, though closely printed, will be six feet long!

In the case of the average voter there is no chance for a deliberative choice in such a deluge of unknown and unknowable names. Even were it possible for a voter, by spending his spare time for a month in personal research, to know whom he was voting for on such a ballot, it may as well be admitted that no voter without a private ax to grind is going to take the trouble. He will pass the buck to the politicians and take a chance on the result. This is exactly what happened under the old boss-controlled caucus and convention system.

Even at that there are gains or potential gains under the primary. At least there lies with the party member a chance to isolate, magnify and go after any particular sore spots of bossism or corruption that may appear in a primary ballot. But the present machinery is by no means beyond improvement. The election ballot could and should be shortened. This would shorten the primary ballot. The pre-primary party convention is a device that has been used in some states to cull out the class of candidates who run for advertising purposes without expecting or intending to be elected.

To devise ways of simplifying the problem of the voter, thus giving him a chance to convey his true will through the ballot, is the business of Legislatures and constitutional conventions. We recommend to the convention now sitting in Jefferson City a consideration of the most dismal political travesty of the hour—St. Louis' six-foot primary ballot.

Socrates and His Pupils.

SOCRATES: I suppose you young men have noticed how women are everywhere seeking public office?

GLAUCON: Yes. It looks as if men were about to be lost in the shuffle.

SOCRATES: So it does. At any rate, we are duly warned of woman's intention.

POLEMARCHUS: Which is to take over the country and run it herself.

SOCRATES: Precisely. The thing to consider is how competent women are to govern the country and what the consequences of government by women will likely be.

THYASMACHUS: Wouldn't you say that Kansas is a very fair approximation of what life will be like?

SOCRATES: I dare say it is. That is, life in Kansas nearest approaches the ideal of one for all and all for one, which has been the influence of woman in politics thus far.

GLAUCON: Is that an ideal to which all of us are well disposed?

SOCRATES: Or in other words, is the future, as we foresee it, one in which we may hope to be happy?

POLEMARCHUS: That will depend, will it not, upon what we conceive to be happiness?

SOCRATES: Good, Polemarchus! It will, truly. We have not the same conception of happiness in every part of the country.

THYASMACHUS: Certainly not. What is happiness to Kansas, where they have a high degree of economic equality, would hardly be happiness to New England, which has a very low one.

SOCRATES: We are laying hold upon something new, I think. If rule by women is to mean a higher degree of economic equality, which we know will be the case, then the rule coming is to be as unpopular in the East as that we have now in distasteful to the West.

GLAUCON: There is this gulf, you think, between East and West?

SOCRATES: Undoubtedly. The present administration, for instance, is essentially Eastern. That is why the nomination of Beveridge in Indiana and Pinchot in Pennsylvania has been hailed as a turning about.

GLAUCON: Has the success of these men encouraged women in their political ideal?

SOCRATES: Of course it has. You don't imagine, do you, that women are interested in government for the predatory rich?

GLAUCON: No.

SOCRATES: Women are interested in every one's right to live decently and enjoy the reasonable fruits of toil, to educate their children and to make the race better.

POLEMARCHUS: I wish we could say as much for men.

SOCRATES: So do I. I doubt if men have ever held that ideal except as they have fun time to time reflected it from women. History, we must recall, is the story of man. The story of woman is just beginning.

Recognition of Oregon.

From the New York World.

THE situation will continue favorable to states and disorders will occur until the United States recognizes Oregon. Why not now? Why not help Mexico, by recognition, to deal with its hard problem? Oregon is in the saddle and no stronger man is in sight. His intention to accept all moral obligations was reiterated Saturday. Finance Secretary de la Huerta is here to transcribe these principles into detailed arrangements. He should not be sent home empty-handed. Sixty-five years ago Mexico adopted a Constitution which was praised by the Liberals of the world. The Constitution of 1917 is assailed as attacking property rights. Chiefly, Mexico, "attacks property" by seeking to break up big estates and substitute peasant proprietorships. Mexico did this. Mr. Lloyd George reminds us and it made her property a marvel. Great Britain expropriated and divided up the big estates in Ireland, and until political troubles interfered Ireland was prosperous. The policy that made France thrifty and strong and Spain might make Mexico a better neighbor and market. At any rate, it is her policy. It has been the policy of Mexican reformers for a hundred years, and it is not likely to be changed, in the folk-psychology of the Mexican people, by any delay in the interest of American concessionaires.

SWEDEN'S PREMIER.

EDWIN BJORKMAN in Our World.

HJALMAR BRANTING belonged to a good Stockholm family with excellent connections. He was a university graduate and regarded as a rising young scientist. He had independent means enabling him to pursue his studies regardless of any monetary considerations, or, if he so preferred, to enjoy a cultured leisure. He was engaged to a young woman of his own class. Even if the socialist theories drew him ever so strongly, he might have been satisfied with giving them a quiet support from the safe seclusion of his own study. Instead he chose to take upon himself the full ignominy of open association with a cause which even the most foresighted then deemed little short of criminal. His one saving feature, the utter hopelessness of his folly.

During the war he took the greatest risk of his career by championing the cause of the allies and America. The pressure brought to bear on him from the other side was tremendous, but he never wavered from the moment he had made up his mind that Germany must be held responsible for the war. Now he is equally determined that, as far as he and his country and the smaller nations allied with it can help, the German people shall not be punished beyond their responsibility. As usual, his stand is dictated not so much by theories or principles as by human sympathy and the recognition of palpable facts.

Just as he believes that the satisfactory conduct of the affairs of a modern nation requires complete internal co-operation, so he believes that international co-operation, regardless of all past differences, can alone give the world the new start without which it is threatened with catastrophes beside which the war itself would dwindle into comparative insignificance. And the creed lying back of this attitude on his part is as simple as it is old. Among Christians it is generally referred to as the Golden Rule.

THEO. H. TRILSEY.

CLOCKS.

I WALKED into a shop today where half a hundred clocks like fifty jaspers grim and stern were keeping Father Time in stocks.

Their faces blanched with vigils long. Their hands all blue and black. Intensely they would argue "Tick!"

Yet "Took!" was all they answered back. Putting their noisy records down With wrangle and debate. For some were always far too fast And others always seemed too late.

Yet Father Time was not perturbed. For, every little while, Amused by all their holy zeal He slyly turned his head to smile.

For cleepsydra that measured drops. And glasses trickling sands. Sun-dials that could but shadows boast. As well as clocks with face and hands.

Had all proclaimed their records loud In divers clever ways. Yet after all, they only marked The seconds, minutes, hours, days.

While Father Time kept looking on Humming an ancient rune. Because, of course, he knew all clocks Must run down either late or soon.

The Ingersolls and Walthams, too. Each have their little say. Yet sometimes "Tick!" will lack for "Took!" For every clock is only clay.

I think I'll smile alone with Time. While others guard with clocks. Proposing endless stupid "Tick!"s And answering endless rapid "Took!"s.

RECOGNITION OF OREGON.

From the New York World.

THE situation will continue favorable to states and disorders will occur until the United States recognizes Oregon. Why not now? Why not help Mexico, by recognition, to deal with its hard problem? Oregon is in the saddle and no stronger man is in sight. His intention to accept all moral obligations was reiterated Saturday. Finance Secretary de la Huerta is here to transcribe these principles into detailed arrangements. He should not be sent home empty-handed. Sixty-five years ago Mexico adopted a Constitution which was praised by the Liberals of the world. The Constitution of 1917 is assailed as attacking property rights. Chiefly, Mexico, "attacks property" by seeking to break up big estates and substitute peasant proprietorships. Mexico did this. Mr. Lloyd George reminds us and it made her property a marvel. Great Britain expropriated and divided up the big estates in Ireland, and until political troubles interfered Ireland was prosperous. The policy that made France thrifty and strong and Spain might make Mexico a better neighbor and market. At any rate, it is her policy. It has been the policy of Mexican reformers for a hundred years, and it is not likely to be changed, in the folk-psychology of the Mexican people, by any delay in the interest of American concessionaires.

SWEDEN'S PREMIER.

EDWIN BJORKMAN in Our World.

HJALMAR BRANTING belonged to a good Stockholm family with excellent connections. He was a university graduate and regarded as a rising young scientist. He had independent means enabling him to pursue his studies regardless of any monetary considerations, or, if he so preferred, to enjoy a cultured leisure. He was engaged to a young woman of his own class. Even if the socialist theories drew him ever so strongly, he might have been satisfied with giving them a quiet support from the safe seclusion of his own study. Instead he chose to take upon himself the full ignominy of open association with a cause which even the most foresighted then deemed little short of criminal. His one saving feature, the utter hopelessness of his folly.

During the war he took the greatest risk of his career by championing the cause of the allies and America. The pressure brought to bear on him from the other side was tremendous, but he never wavered from the moment he had made up his mind that Germany must be held responsible for the war. Now he is equally determined that, as far as he and his country and the smaller nations allied with it can help, the German people shall not be punished beyond their responsibility. As usual, his stand is dictated not so much by theories or principles as by human sympathy and the recognition of palpable facts.

Just as he believes that the satisfactory conduct of the affairs of a modern nation requires complete internal co-operation, so he believes that international co-operation, regardless of all past differences, can alone give the world the new start without which it is threatened with catastrophes beside which the war itself would dwindle into comparative insignificance. And the creed lying back of this attitude on his part is as simple as it is old. Among Christians it is generally referred to as the Golden Rule.

THEO. H. TRILSEY.

CLOCKS.

I WALKED into a shop today where half a hundred clocks like fifty jaspers grim and stern were keeping Father Time in stocks.

Their faces blanched with vigils long. Their hands all blue and black. Intensely they would argue "Tick!"

Yet "Took!" was all they answered back. Putting their noisy records down With wrangle and debate. For some were always far too fast And others always seemed too late.

Yet Father Time was not perturbed. For, every little while, Amused by all their holy zeal He slyly turned his head to smile.

For cleepsydra that measured drops. And glasses trickling sands. Sun-dials that could but shadows boast. As well as clocks with face and hands.

Had all proclaimed their records loud In divers clever ways. Yet after all, they only marked The seconds, minutes, hours, days.

While Father Time kept looking on Humming an ancient rune. Because, of course, he knew all clocks Must run down either late or soon.

The Ingersolls and Walthams, too. Each have their little say. Yet sometimes "Tick!" will lack for "Took!" For every clock is only clay.

I think I'll smile alone with Time. While others guard with clocks. Proposing endless stupid "Tick!"s And answering endless rapid "Took!"s.

ZIEGFELD PRESENTS HIS 16TH "FOLLIES"

Will Rogers' Return, Beau Ballets and Burlesque on Ball Pitching Features.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The old Follies, sixteenth annual production of F. Ziegfeld Jr., at the Amsterdam Theater, with songs by Gene Buck and music by Victor Herbert, Louis Hirsch, Dave Stampfer and directed by Ziegfeld, appeared last night among the principals are: Rogers, Gallagher and Shean, Eaton, Florence O'Denihawn, the Lorber, Mary Lewis, Evelyn Hunter, Lulu McConnell, Conner wins, Jesse Reed, Eaton, the Sixteen Tiller Girls, Drew Tombs, Brandon Tynan, and Knox, Thomas Spencer, Ward Handley, Grant Simpson, Whiting, Serge Prynkoff, John Scott and Al Ochs.

There are two ways of creating a superb art in the theater. One is to take a small plot of romance and make it to use a ton of scenery and costumes. The first is the new "Ziegfeld Follies" close to a bias of glory as first one me and then the other is employed carried through to perfection. The Follies ballet, "Follies Gods," is much the best thing of the sort which Ziegfeld has ever done. Indeed, we have seen no better in any American production managed to achieve great without being so deadly as about it. The Spirit of Spring, the North Wind and a Five Subway Fare and all the rest of the symbolic crew are omitted. This act really is a frolic in spite of the fact that it is elaborate and pretentious.

Will Rogers Comes Back. No sooner is it done than comes Will Rogers. The return Rogers is enough to make this one of the best of the series. Don't suppose that Rogers is an improper person, but he is a man which is just as good. One year him tick. Probably there are few more authentic American acts than Rogers. While he is in there is none who seems so good. However, we have seen paragraphs in type from time to time, and then something is done and Rogers himself (in a sense) make all the difference in the world. He explained his desire of the movies on the ground the campaign to clean up the matter of Hollywood had made it seem viable for him to return to stage.

In regard to Margot's future, he hazarded the opinion she had made a mistake in devoting a whole hour to describing hunting. "There wasn't 10 per cent of Broadway audience," explained Rogers, "had ever seen a horse, let alone a fox." He thought there should be difficulty about collecting the money for the show. He suggested that the United States should point Peggy Hopkins as a corollary of one. He also remarked that Ziegfeld was adverse to the Follies as the "national lion dance" because the quality of the "I don't know about that," Rogers, "but he's certainly expert."

And that reminds us that, say dances a South Sea number most thrilling fashion. Miss Ziegfeld's quality of the quality which has been conspicuously in some of the Ziegfelds. We often have the feeling that matter how much is taken of average Follies girl her austere main.

Lantern's Burlesque on Roo Pitching.

A baseball act by Ring Lardner called "The Bull Pen" is one of the best features. To be sure, Lardner is rather local. The speech made heard of Ruth and Slater and Horsey. Some of the actors haven't that ought to matter. This sketch of a pitching and warming up is a piece of characterization. It is a piece of the very best which the American like to see as any of the season, and Andrew Tombs, the rookie, gives a striking performance.

Brandon Tynan, who is a more adept in the art of dancing than anybody hereabouts, is doing the sketch, which is a backward, is unimpressive. There is good dancing by Tiller girls, by Rita Owen and by Follies ballet. The Sicilian act on the other hand, is excellent and in music, but suffers the lack of any truly impetuous performance.

Knox and Shean, an English act, exceedingly amusing in a ballad burlesque, have come a good deal of Gallagher and Shean, particularly Gallagher. The similar song by Bryan Foy (the comedian), is a rollicking one, but the verses are far too tedious to warrant such extended attention.

We have mentioned only a few of the factors which make the bill. They range all the way from the very best which the field of all the world has to down through so so and not so good. In other words, the bill is the most typical of the "Ziegfeld follies."

Jackson Academy Graduation. Graduation exercises will be held at 8:15 o'clock this evening at Jackson Academy, 4368 E. Boulevard. Twelve will receive diplomas for having completed preparatory for college entrance.

ZIEGFELD PRESENTS
HIS 16TH "FOLLIES"

Will Rogers' Return, Beautiful Ballets and Burlesque on Baseball Pitching Features.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Ziegfeld Follies, sixteenth annual production of F. Ziegfeld Jr., at the New Amsterdam Theater, with book by Ring Lardner and Ralph Spence, lyrics by Gene Buck and music by Victor Herbert, Louis Hirsch and Dave Hunter and directed by Ned Wynand appeared last night. Among the principals are: Will Rogers, Gallagher and Shean, Mary Mason, Florence O'Donoghue, Martha Lester, Mary Lewis, Evelyn Law, Lulu McConnell, the Conner twins, Jesse Reed, Pearl Mason, the sixteen Tiller girls, Ann Tombs, Brandon Tynan, Nancy and Knox, Thomas Spencer, Bertram, Anne Hunt, Mmes. Richard and Randall, Grant Simpson, Jack Whiting, Serge Prynkoff, John B. Hunt and Al Ochs.

There are two ways of crediting Ziegfeld's art in the theater. One is to call it a small piece of rope and the other is to use a ton of scenery, gags and costumes. The first act of the new "Ziegfeld Follies" closes in a mass of glory as first one method and then the other is employed and carried through to perfection. The Follies ballet, "Frolicking Jack," is much the best thing of the sort which Ziegfeld has ever done. Indeed, we have seen no better ballet in any American production. It is managed to achieve great beauty without being so deadly serious as "The Spirit of Spring" and "The North Wind" and all the rest of that symbolic crew are omitted. This ballet really is a frolic in spite of the fact that it is elaborate and premeditated.

Will Rogers Comes Back. No sooner is it done than out comes Will Rogers. The return of Rogers is enough to make this Follies one of the best of the series. We don't suppose that Rogers is really an impromptu person, but he seems to be just as good. One never hears him tick. Probably there are more authentic American satirists than Rogers. While he is talking there is none who seems half as good. However, we have seen the photographs in type from time to time, and then something is lost. The rope does make a little difference and Rogers himself (in person) makes all the difference in the world. He explained his desertion of the movies on the ground that the campaign to clean up the morals of Hollywood had made it seem as if he were making a mistake in leaving for him to return to the stage.

In regard to Margot's first lecture, he hazarded the opinion that she had made a mistake in devoting a whole hour to describing foxglove. "There wasn't 10 per cent of that foxglove audience," explained Rogers, "had ever seen a horse, let alone a foxglove."

He thought there should be no difficulty about collecting the form. It was his suggestion that the United States should appoint Peggy Hopkins as a committee one. He also remarked that the Ziegfeld was advertising the Follies as the "national institution glorifying the American girl." "I don't know about that," said Rogers, "but he's certainly exposing it."

And that reminds us that Gloria Gray danced a South Sea number in that thrilling fashion. Miss Gray contributes the quality of abandon which has been conspicuously lacking in some of the Follies shows. In other words, the feeling that no matter how much is taken off the stage Follies girl her austerity remains.

Lardner's Burlesque on Rookie Pitching. A baseball act by Ring Lardner and "The Bull Pen" is one of its features. To be sure, Lardner's act is rather local. The spectator must have heard of Ruth and Cobb and Slater and Hornsby. Some spectators haven't but that ought not to matter. This sketch of a rookie pitcher and warming up is a real piece of characterization. It touches American life as closely as any play of the season, and Andrew Tombs, the rookie, gives a strikingly fine performance.

Brandon Tynan, who is a little more adept in the art of disguise than anybody hereabouts, is amusing, but the sketch, which is played backward, is unhumorous. There is good dancing by the Tiller girls, by Rita Glen and in the Follies ballet. The Sicilian ballet, on the other hand, is excellent in and in music, but suffers from lack of any truly impetuous performance.

There and Knox, an English pair, are exceedingly amusing in acrobatic burlesque, but we could stand a good deal of Gallagher and Shean, especially Gallagher. Their farcical song by Bryan Fox (son of the comedian), is a rollicking tune, but the verses are far too indifferently written in warrant extended repetition.

We have mentioned only a fraction of the factors which make up the bill. They range all the way from the very best which the revue has to offer, so good and so at home, to the very worst, the present number is the most typical of all the "Ziegfeld follies."

Jackson Academy Graduation. Graduation exercises will be held at 8 o'clock this evening at the Jackson Academy, 4363 Lindell boulevard. Twelve will receive diplomas for having completed work preparatory for college entrance.

Society News

Miss Marjorie Rathel of 60 Kingsbury place, entertained 12 guests at a bridge party yesterday afternoon at which announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Grace Peters and A. W. Dehlendorf. Miss Peters is the daughter of Charles H. Peters of 5224 Westminster place. She is a graduate of Mary Institute and is popular in the younger set.

Mr. Dehlendorf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Dehlendorf of Wagner place. During the war he served in the naval air service. Miss Peters will depart tomorrow to spend the summer in California, and the wedding will take place in the early part of September.

An interesting party of this afternoon was a bridge luncheon given in honor of Mrs. Annie Laurie Bloodworth by Miss Marjorie Groves of Hampton Park. The guests were Misses Elise and Olivia Harbaugh, Doris Drummond, Marie Baker, Henrietta Davis, Mary E. Ryan, Louisa Moser, Anne Hunt, Mmes. Richard and Randall, Grant Simpson, Jack Whiting, Serge Prynkoff, John B. Hunt and Al Ochs.

Mrs. Edwin Hilmer of 735 Westgate avenue gave a bridge party this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Thomas Brittingham Jr. of Chicago, formerly Miss Mildred Candy, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Gilbert Candy. There were six tables for cards.

Mrs. Brittingham will depart Thursday morning for her home. Murray French Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Lewis of 12 Hortense place, entertained several of his friends at a party yesterday to celebrate his birthday. Mrs. Lewis is spending several days in New York. She is registered at the Chatham Hotel.

Miss Virginia Cabanne Link, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Link of 5650 Cabanne avenue, who will be one of next season's debutantes, will depart Thursday for Memphis, Tenn., where she will visit Miss Emily Gerber. Later she will go to Jackson, Miss., for a visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Link, and to New Orleans, La., where she will be a member of a yachting party on Lake Pontchartrain, chartered by friends of her grandparents.

Capt. and Mrs. William F. Saportz of Fort Riley, Kan., the latter of whom is a sister of Mrs. Link, will arrive in St. Louis about July 1 for a visit with the Link family at their summer home in St. Albans, Mo.

Miss Laura Bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bird of 5725 Westminster place, departed yesterday morning with Mr. and Mrs. George Bull of 6026 Waterman avenue for Northern Minnesota, where they will tour for two months. They will be joined in a few days by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Allen and will make their headquarters at Hackensack, Minn., where Mr. and Mrs. Allen have a cottage and will take motor trips from there.

Miss Alicia Hafner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hafner of 4511 West Pine boulevard, entertained 14 guests at a luncheon this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Howard Nelson Ruben of New York, formerly Miss Caroline Shelton, who is visiting her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Shelton.

Miss Lucille Cornet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Cornet of 4550 Pershing avenue, will have as her guest Miss Helen Sullivan of Chicago. The visitor will arrive in St. Louis today.

The engagement of Miss Helen H. McCargo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCargo, 5413 Bartmer avenue, and John W. Geppert, son of Mrs. Ida Geppert of Kirkwood, was announced at a bridge party a day or two, and will remain about 10 days.

Miss Marjorie Cornet will depart about June 14 for Toledo, O., to attend the wedding of Miss Genevieve Baker and Marvin Horick, which will take place June 21. Miss Baker is known in St. Louis, having visited Miss Cornet about a year ago.

The Cornet family is planning to spend the summer in California. Miss Marjorie Rathel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rathel, 60 Kingsbury boulevard, has chosen Oct. 7 as the date of her wedding to Dr. Arthur C. Brooks. The plans have not been completed nor the bridal party selected.

The Rathel family is planning to spend part of the summer at Quebec. Mr. and Mrs. Murray Carleton have leased a cottage at Deer Park, Md., for the summer. Mrs. Carleton and her daughters, Misses Patricia and Annie Laurie Carleton, are planning to depart about June 22. Mr. Carleton and possibly another daughter, Mrs. Richard Moore Jr., will join other members of the family later. They will return to St. Louis Sept. 15.

Mr. John Smallman, who has been the guest for the past fortnight of Mrs. J. F. Murphy, 415 Belt avenue, departed this morning for her home in Nashville, Tenn., accompanied by Mrs. Murphy's daughter, Miss Mary Alice Murphy. Miss Murphy will visit in Memphis and Little Rock before returning to St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and their family will leave St. Louis the latter part of the week for their summer home, "Mardale," at Kingsville, Mo.

Mrs. Vaughn Moore of Breckenridge, Tenn., and her infant daughter, Mary Ann Moore, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Murphy of 4264 Delmar boulevard. Mrs. Moore was before her marriage Miss Mary Elizabeth Murphy. She and her baby will visit in St. Louis for several weeks, and a number of parties will be given in her honor.

The engagement of Miss Helen H. McCargo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCargo, 5413 Bartmer avenue, and John W. Geppert, son of Mrs. Ida Geppert of Kirkwood, was announced at a bridge party

GIFT OF $40,000
FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. Kate M. Howard, President, Presents Organization With Sum to Lift Mortgage.

Mrs. Kate M. Howard of 33 Vandeventer place has made a gift to the St. Louis Woman's Club, of which she is president, of about $40,000 to lift the mortgage on the clubhouse, at 4400 Lindell boulevard. She announced her gift at the close of the June meeting of the board of directors yesterday. Her announcement came as a surprise.

Officers of the club today declined to discuss the amount of the debt which is lifted, saying Mrs. Howard was too modest to permit such discussion. The amount was learned from other sources.

The club, which has a membership of about 275 women, was organized in 1904. It occupied the old Shandeleigh residence on Washington boulevard, west of Grand boulevard, at first. Ten years ago the present structure was purchased by the St. Louis Woman's Building Co., a subsidiary of the club, which gave 10-year notes on the mortgage.

The club season will close Thursday with a luncheon and card party.

given Saturday afternoon by Miss McCargo and her sister, Miss Meredith McCargo, in honor of Miss Winona Weutenbaecher.

Miss McCargo is a graduate of Washington University and a member of Phi Beta Phi. Mr. Geppert has also been graduated at Washington University and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. The date for the wedding has not been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie E. Haupt of 701 Eastgate avenue are spending 10 days in Chicago at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Miss Frances Fendler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max Fendler of 6023 German avenue, will be graduated from Washington University on Thursday, and will be married the following Monday to Herbert Schiele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schiele of Washington boulevard.

Two hundred and fifty guests have been invited to the ceremony, which will be performed at 8 o'clock at the Columbian Club. A reception will follow.

The bridal party will consist of Miss Frances Schiele, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor; Julia Althelm of Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Irene Loeb, Edwin Schroeder will be best man, and the groomsmen will be Julian Cohn, Ralph Lowenstein, Ralph Schroeder and Allan Althelm.

The couple will spend their honeymoon at 4 Broadway, Colo.

STATION TAXI CONTRACT HELD TO BE ILLEGAL

Columbia Terminals Co. Loses Suit to Enjoin Enforcement of City Ordinance.

Solicitation of taxicab passengers and baggage hauling by one corporation in Union Station, under a contract for the privilege of which thousands of dollars are paid the Terminal Railroad Association annually, is held to be illegal, in the opinion handed down by Circuit Judge Hall today.

The opinion was rendered in the suit of the Columbia Terminals Co. to enjoin the city from enforcing an ordinance, which was approved in 1916 but not since enforced, and which makes it unlawful for any person to enter railroad or steamboat stations to solicit the hauling of passengers or baggage, whether for a railroad or steamboat company, to a hotel, or privately.

The city recently gave notice that the ordinance would be enforced and the filing of the suit resulted. Union Station is the chief place affected.

Contract Under Assignment. The Columbia Terminals Co., a freight hauling corporation, in its petition stated that it owned the contract between the Terminal Railroad Association and the St. Louis Transfer Co. for the Union Station business, under assignment. The St. Louis Transfer Co. is now a subsidiary of the Columbia Terminals Co. It was stated that the contract provides for the payment of $12,200 a year, plus 12 percent of the gross annual income above $110,000 a year, from that business, for the privilege of hauling passengers and baggage from Union Station.

The passenger business is conducted by another subsidiary, the Taxicab Trust, which has exclusive use, under the contract, of the taxicab concourse in the Market street side of the station, at Ninth street. The St. Louis Transfer Co. has exclusive use of an office in the midway.

The suit alleged that the ordinance usurped the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Public Service Commission, was in violation of the city charter and was contrary to the State Constitution, in that it impaired the obligations of a contract.

Judge Hall's decision, in part, follows: "There is no question but what, if a contract contains certain provisions permitting what borders on or creates a nuisance, it is in itself an illegal contract. In this instance the contracting parties had no right to contract away the rights of the city with reference to the enactment of proper laws and ordinances for the protection and comfort of its citizens."

The reference of the plaintiff to its protection of the ignorant and unsophisticated public and the plaintiff's constant fear lest the public become the prey and easy victims of hackmen and motor vehicle drivers who are not financially responsible does not come with the best of grace. Simply because one concern may be rich in worldly goods does not preclude the poor from participation in means which afford a livelihood."

Independent taxicab owners and minor companies have had to be content with stands on Market street, outside the station.

MAN FINED ON WOMAN'S CHARGE

Assessed $500. Defendant, Denying Accusations, Says He Will Appeal. Ben Luaders, 26 years old, of 2119 South Ninth street, was fined $500 by Police Judge Homer today on a peace disturbance charge made by Mrs. Goldie McDermott, 22, of 116A Ann avenue.

Mrs. McDermott, who is the mother of a child 1 year old, testified that Luaders, who is a huckster, attacked her in her home May 24, after he had been employed to put up a stove. She sought a warrant on a felony charge, which was not issued. Luaders, who denies the charge, said he would appeal the case.

BREWERY NOW ICE FACTORY

Granite City Plant Purchased by Quality Ice Co.

The Wagner Brewery at Granite City, formerly owned by the Independent Breweries Co. of St. Louis, has been converted into a cold storage plant and a factory for making ice, ice cream and beverages. It has been purchased by the Quality Ice Co., of which G. A. Morris and F. G. Hartman of St. Louis are president and secretary, respectively. The purchase price was $150,000.

A contract to store 40,000 barrels of apples from Calhoun County, Illinois in the plant, has been entered into.

Will Inspect Barracks.

Major-General Francis J. Kernan, commanding the Seventh Corps area of the United States army, will inspect the various military activities in St. Louis and at Jefferson Barracks tomorrow. Gen. Kernan, who for the last two years has been commander of the Department of the Philippines, recently assumed command of the Seventh Corps area, with headquarters at Omaha. He will be accompanied to St. Louis by Col. Joseph L. Gibbreth, assistant chief of staff for military intelligence in the area.

THE MATRIMONIAL RUT

Three New York Women Lawyers
Discuss Causes of Domestic Unhappiness.

In the First of a Series of Three Interviews, Pauline O. Field, Head of the Abandonment Bureau, Points Out Three "Ruts" Which Have Come Prominently Under Her Observation.

By Fay Stevenson.

"MATRIMONIAL RUTS"
Those are the rough places over which many couples stumble and frequently get so entangled that they find it difficult to get back on the clear, smooth road again.

Pauline O. Field, head of the Abandonment Bureau and assistant to District Attorney Banton, of New York, Helen P. McCormick, Assistant District Attorney of Kings County, New York, and Clarice M. Baright, one of New York's most prominent women lawyers, all de-

THAT FEELING OF
"SUPERIORITY" MUST NOT BE ENCOURAGED

are that "matrimonial ruts" are the cause of most of the infelicities between husbands and wives.

In today's interview Mrs. Field, whose recent experiences as head of the Abandonment Bureau have brought many cases of couples who are subject to matrimonial ruts before her, tells of the ruts which she considers most destructive toward marital happiness.

"With her keen, analytical mind Mrs. Field pointed out the following ruts which she believes are foremost among the causes of unhappiness which she considers most destructive toward marital happiness.

"1. Getting that 'Superior Feeling'.

"2. Inability to accept each other as they are.

"3. Inability to swing the pendulum evenly in regard to:

(a) Money matters.

(b) Social engagements.

(c) Holding one's tongue."

"Getting that 'Superior Feeling' is probably the worst rut a husband or wife may get into," declared Mrs. Field at her office in the Criminal Courts Building. "This is the most destructive rut a husband and wife may fall into. To think that you married a woman, a person who has the mentality of a child of 12, simply means that you can never be happy with her again.

"Frequently a wife finds that she is better posted on some subject than her husband. Possibly she has been reading up on that special subject and takes him by surprise, therefore she puts him down as a moron and feels decidedly superior to him. Of course, she doesn't come to this conclusion at once, but day after day she lays little traps for him and she finds he doesn't know the things she does.

"Then she begins to compare him with other men. Mrs. Smith's husband may have a motor car, a new diamond brooch, a bungalow in the country and she wonders why HER HUSBAND can't climb the ladder as well as the other men. Perhaps her husband doesn't drive a nail as well as she does, perhaps he has formed the habit of putting things off and she does them herself feeling vastly superior.

"Day by day this wife is getting into a deeper rut, becoming more superior to the man she married and day by day they are getting further and further apart. Now the fact of it is in many cases she is NOT superior. She may be of a quicker turn of mind, of a more active disposition but if she stopped to think things out she might find that hubby is superior to her in many other things.

"Then there is the 'Superior Man,' the husband who looks about the house and thinks he could do the work in half an hour and spend the rest of the day out in the open air. What do cleaning, dusting, baking, mending, marketing, taking care of the children and doing the thousand and one things wife complains about amount to? A snap of the fingers! He could do it all in a jiffy and just sit around the house and enjoy 'home, sweet home.'

"Again there is the 'Superior Husband' who reads the papers and keeps up with all the current events. The women in his office are well posted and well groomed, but his wife asks him about things which she herself could glean from the news and she fails to have that coiffured, manured appearance of the women he sees downtown. He begins to feel that he is superior to this domesticated wife and that if he were in her place he would look differently and manage differently.

"Superiority—that miserable idea that you know more than your better half—is the most miserable, destructive rut any husband or wife can get into. My advice to the man or woman who has acquired that 'superior feeling' is to shake themselves, to wake up and step out of this rut, which means the loss of self respect, of confidence and love.

In speaking of the second rut, "Inability to accept each other as they are," Mrs. Field said:

"Here is a rut which is constantly open to the husband or wife who will not take each other as they are.

QUARRELS OVER MONEY MATTERS WEAR A DEEP RUT

Both husband and wife must learn to accept each other's faults as well as the good qualities. Angelic husbands and wives do not exist. The man is bound to be cross, even a bear at times, or he will have some outstanding fault. And the woman is going to love society, be late for dinner, a nag, and remind him of all the unpleasant things he doesn't wish to hear. This is human nature. But don't fall into the rut of hating each other for your weaknesses. Pick out the best, the very best, and accept the rest 'for worse.'

Coming to her third outstanding matrimonial rut: "Inability to swing the pendulum in regard to money matters, social engagements and holding one's tongue," Mrs. Field said:

"Money matters have been and probably always will be a rut to couples who would otherwise be very happy together. But this is a matter which every individual household must settle for itself. The present budget system helps many couples and in personal allowances husband and wife must learn to make it a case of 50-50 in regard to saving and spending.

SOME FAULTS MUST

"Social engagements are the cause of much unhappiness between husband and wife. If the pendulum does not swing evenly between them they are very apt to fall into a rut. Some men are naturally hermits. They simply want to stay home and be alone all the time. This is, of course, unfair to the woman; but on the other hand she must realize that home means quietude and comfort to a busy man and he must have some free evenings each week.

"Another swing to the pendulum which may keep couples out of matrimonial ruts is 'holding one's tongue.' If the tired business man can only learn to refrain from talking until AFTER he eats his dinner and the poor little housewife can only manage to tell him her household troubles when they are sitting together after dinner one of the meanest little ruts in the matrimonial road could be avoided. It isn't what you say, it's the way you say it. And the things you say before dinner when you are tired and agitated are not said the way they would be if you waited until you were in a calmer frame of mind.

"The matrimonial rut is full of ruts and pitfalls, but if husband and wife learn to avoid these, to accept them and steer out of their way, they will find that the love which drew them together still exists."

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANETTE YOUNG NORTON

Do You Know the Secret of Saffron Coloring?

THE secrets of saffron cooking have been, comparatively speaking, a mystery to the American cook until recent days. Perhaps the serving of yellow rice at Italian restaurants brought forth the first inquiry, which was answered by one word—saffron.

The so-called Spanish saffron is used for flavoring and coloring. This is a different variety from the saffron used for tea for medicinal purposes. This herb is centuries old in the Far East, and Oriental, Spanish, Italian and French cooks make use of it. A small quantity goes a great way. An ounce purchased from a chemist or at an Italian or Turkish shop will flavor a number of dishes, for the foreign cook will tell you that a "pinch" will be enough for one pot of spaghetti.

Strange to say, saffron is red when purchased, and does not turn to glorious yellow until it is cooked. The famous "bouillabaisse" of France is flavored with saffron, and there are also certain varieties of sweet dishes which are better, for moistening with saffron water. The famous yellow rice is made by cooking the rice in chicken broth until tender, then a saucy spoonful of saffron is stirred in and is continuously stirred until it colors the rice. The rice is then drained and served in a deep dish dusted with grated cheese, or it is often served with Italian oil dressing.

Yellow rice is often served with roast chicken. Russian cooks sometimes put a little saffron into the dish-gravy, and baste their chickens with it for flavoring purposes. When the gravy is made it is strained so that the tiny little thread-like pieces of the saffron are not detected by those who wonder what the exquisite flavoring may be.

In making yellow spaghetti, break the paste sticks into rapidly-boiling, salted water to which a teaspoonful of butter has been added. Boil 10 minutes, then add as much saffron as could be put on a 10-cent piece, and continue to cook for 15 minutes more, stirring frequently. Drain, then pour over it the following sauce:

Put a can of tomatoes and a can of water into a saucepan with a few stalks of celery, a sliced onion, a little parsley, half a bay leaf, half a bud of garlic, a half-teaspoonful of curry powder, salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of sugar. Simmer until the onion is cooked, or about a half-hour, then strain into a bowl with a half-cupful of butter in it. Stir steadily until the butter is melted and the sauce seems rich and thick, then turn it over the spaghetti. Pass grated cheese with the dish.

In Italy there are special saffron noodles made which are a gorgeous color, and they add flavoring to a chicken or any clear soup they may be cooked in.

We who visit Oriental restaurants are sure after a time to run into the "rose pilaf," which is an especial dainty, often served at special functions, and always a wedding dish of the Turks. It is the same yellow rice, but it has sugar added to it, and is flavored with saffron that has soaked in rose water.

Pancakes with saffron flavoring were an old French favorite, and were also well known in England. These old flavorings should be carefully used, for oftentimes modern taste does not take to them. We either do or we do not like saffron at the first trial, and it is wise to find out and let our verdict be known before another similar dish makes its appearance.

In most countries the wife changes her surname on marriage to that of her husband, but in Spain she retains it, and the son may adopt either the maternal or paternal name.

A LOVER IN CHAINS

—By—

THE LIE.
Chapter 13.

BETWEEN one thing and another Traill had not slept at all. Somehow he got through the day, but he simply could not apply his mind to anything. This life of senseless, purposeless pleasure was heading him straight for disaster, and the worst of it was, there seemed to be no end in sight.

He felt that the time had come when he really must have it out with Gay and arrive at an understanding, once and for all, on the subject of this life which had become intolerable.

She had asked—or rather—demanded—that he come in at 5 o'clock. Accordingly he went straight out to Knightsbridge from the law courts, arriving nearly an hour before he was expected.

The footman who admitted him said that Mrs. Desmond was up. She was in the small boudoir entertaining a visitor.

Donald shrugged his shoulders. He was in no mood at this moment to carry on conversation with one of Gay's friends.

"I'll wait until her caller has gone," he said. "Don't trouble Mrs. Desmond. I'll wait in here."

He turned towards a room just off the big marble hall, sighing deeply as the heavy fatigue of a sleepless night and an unprofitable day weighted him down with an inexpressible sense of depression. Was it in such a mood that people turned to drugs, he wondered.

In the midst of his gloomy reverie, Donald heard steps in the hall and a man's voice demanding his hat and stick.

It couldn't be possible that it was Jack Stanhope's voice! After Gay's promise of last night?

Donald went to the window which commanded a view of the street, and a second after the front door closed, Stanhope passed, walking jauntily.

Donald's lips were grim when the footman came to tell him that Stanhope's visitor had gone, and she was alone.

The ever-watchful, lynx-eyed maid appeared to take him over from the footman. He saw at once that she was startled.

"But, sir—madam is not expecting you for another half hour. Madam is not dressed to receive you, yet sir," she protested, blocking the way.

Donald's anger was difficult for him to control.

He met her keen eye with a keen, hard, expression.

"I believe Mrs. Desmond has just been entertaining a caller. I am sure she is quite suitably attired," he said.

"But, sir"—Plainly the woman was on the verge of panic. She did not budge from the door, and one could almost read the painful brain in some other excuse.

"I don't want to use force," Donald said, dangerously quiet, "but unless you read the maid's mind, I shall be obliged to."

For an instant, the maid appeared to hesitate, but evidently her heart quailed under his air of grim determination, and without another word she fled quickly down the hall.

Donald entered the boudoir unannounced, and the two little dogs ran barking to give him greeting.

"Tell me, Gay, does Jack Stanhope care for you?" he asked, looking at her.

"Jack, I told you to go to once. If Donald should come—"

"Donald has come," Traill replied, working his way through the furniture to the couch by the fire.

A thoroughly startled and terrified woman roused herself from the bank of cushions. Her face was white, and her eyes stared with unnatural brightness.

"You," she gasped.

"Yes, I have been waiting downstairs for Stanhope to go," he replied.

He stood looking down upon her, as though measuring and considering everything.

Her beautiful yellow hair was in considerable disorder and she was clad negligently, to say the least.

She seemed surrounded by a horrid sense of disorder. One of her dainty, heelless slippers had dropped off, and crushed amongst the cushions was an open novel, its pages untidily creased.

Gay drew herself up to a sitting position and then hunted for her slipper, which she fumbled clumsily before she could get it on.

"Well?" she demanded, her face averted. "Are you going to make a row, Donald? If so, let's get it over."

Donald stood looking at her, and when he spoke it was very quietly.

"No—we needn't have a row. I'm going to give you the privilege of releasing me from our engagement, that's all. You cannot care an atom for me, or you'd have some regard for my wishes. You know what I said last night."

A low cry escaped the woman's painted lips.

"You can't—you aren't!" she breathed. "Oh, Donald it isn't in you to be so hard! You know I love you and you, alone. You know that you've driven me mad with jealousy. I've scarcely slept a wink for weeks. I live in hell—all through you and your infatuation with that Savoy girl. And then you tell me that I don't care!"

She broke into hysterical sobs that shook her whole body.

"You drove me to things I—I haven't even mentioned," she added.

He remembered Joyce St. Clair's warning about there being worse things than opium and his blood ran cold.

"Does Stanhope supply you with drugs?" he demanded.

She did not reply directly.

"I have nothing to live for—nothing, without your love. I shan't care what becomes of me. I'll go straight to perdition, and when that happens, perhaps your conscience will wake up. Perhaps your dreams will be a little uneasy. It can't be pleasant for a man to know that he has sent a woman to hell."

Donald shivered. No, it would not be pleasant.

His resolution weakened. She had appealed to that something in him to which he must always respond. Her bowed figure and disarranged hair gave a perfect picture of helplessness.

"Save me, Donald—save me! You are the only person in the wide world who can do it. I need you. When I felt you slipping away from me, I went mad. I—"

He sat down beside her on the untidy couch.

"Tell me, Gay, does Jack Stanhope care for you? Is that his hold over you?"

"He has no hold over me," she sobbed.

"Why did you lie to me? Why didn't you keep your promise? You never meant to keep that promise. I see through it all."

"How can we be married when I don't trust you? Is there the slightest chance for happiness for either of us on such a basis?"

In spite of himself his tone was softer than it had been at first.

"The woman threw herself into his arms and clung desperately to him.

"Donald," she pleaded, "I'm in the depths and you put me there. Only you can get me out."

Was it possible that he had such a terrible responsibility? Sweat broke out on his forehead at the mere idea.

"You're not going to forsake me, are you?" she added in a whisper.

"Will you tell me the truth?"

"Yes—yes—I swear I will!"

"Then—does Stanhope supply you with drugs?" it was the same question.

She was too excited and wrought-up to hesitate.

"No. He—he's been trying to get me to give them up," she lied. "He's cured himself and he knew how badly off I am, and he wanted to help me."

It is incredible that Donald half believed her.

"You don't need a man like that to cure you," he expostulated.

"No, I need you—but you were breaking my heart, Donald—"

"Have you spoken to your doctor?"

"I'm ashamed."

"Well, you must go to your doctor. You needn't feel ashamed. He's used to all sorts of things. And now tell me, since you exonerate

Stanhope—who taught you such vicious vices? Who supplies the means to continue them? A baleful gleam came into her eyes and her lips curved.

"I should think you'd guess. Joyce St. Clair. (To be Continued in Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS.—After milling round for several seasons trying to find a chic in which to conceal a tiny puff, the Parisienne has at last thought her of her shoe. She has a powder puff in the hand, and a little buckle or diamond piece diagonally across the nose. She has even concealed it under a large poppy on her hat. But it is nevertheless adequate.

THE PULLMAN PORTER BLUES.
The Pullman Palace patron will have music with his trip:
Not only will the porter shine his shoes—
He'll remove the dust of travel and relieve him of his grip.
The while he sings the Pullman Porter Blues.

I'll shine your shoes and sing the blues
And manicure your nails."

Mayhap the "Rock of Ages" he will sing.

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Don't forget my little fee."
When the passenger is nervous and he thinks there's something wrong,
Because in sleep he hasn't closed an eye,
He'll loudly yell for service, then old George will come along
And sing to him this soothing lullaby:

"Bye-oh, baby bunting,
The porter's gone a-hunting
To rustle up a pint of booze,
So close your eyes and take a snooze."

MY FAVORITE STORIES

LARRY BOOSTED THE GAME.
"LARRY," said the young man with the slicked-back hair and the wasp waist, "I want you to do me a big favor. I've just met a girl who's visiting here from Toledo and I've fallen for her strong. Now, I want to make a good impression on her—sort of let her get the impression that I'm well-to-do. In fact, I don't care if she goes so far as to think I'm wealthy; but I don't want to do too much bragging in front of her about what I've got. So there's where you fit into the game."

"How do I fit into the game?" inquired Larry, who was by way of being rather a rugged and untutored person.

"Easy enough," said the conspirator. "Tomorrow I've got a date to buy her a lunch at the Claridge. We'll be sitting at one of the tables against the back wall. Along about 2 o'clock you drop in there as if by accident. I'll hail you and call you over to our table and introduce you to Miss Ferguson—that's her name. Gertrude Ferguson—and insist on your sitting down with us. Then I'll start in talking about myself. I'll be sort of backward and diffident in referring to my own possessions, but every time I mention anything that belongs to me that'll be your cue to interrupt and go the limit, swelling me. Understand, you're to boost at every opportunity. That's it, boost and boost and keep on boosting until you make her believe that I'm a young millionaire and all the time I'll be gettin' credit in her mind for modesty."

"I get you," said Larry. "Leave it to me."
The scene shifts to the following afternoon at the Claridge. Prompt on the appointed hour the well-meaning Larry appeared. The chief plotter called him across the restaurant and he was duly presented to the fair Miss Ferguson and by invitation took a seat. His friend took up the thread of his narrative.

"I was just saying to Miss Ferguson," he explained, "that last Sunday I was out at my little place in the country."

"Place in the country? Huh!" broke in Larry. "Listen to that, will you, lady. He calls it a place in the country. It's an estate, that's what it is—a regular estate, that's all."

The suitor smiled tolerantly and went on.

"Well, anyhow," he resumed, "I was out there at my shack—"

"Ain't that just like you?" proclaimed Larry. "Shack, huh? It's a palace, that's all—a palace, I'll tell the world."

"No matter old man," continued his friend. "What I was going to say was that I called the maid, and I told her—"

"You called the maid?" clarified the co-conspirator. "Why don't you say you called one of the maids. Near as I remember, you've got five or six maids hanging round that palace, not to mention a couple of butlers and one thing or another."

"Have it your own way, old chap," resumed the slick-haired one, with a sidelong glance at Miss Ferguson to see what the effect upon her was. "I called one of the maids, if you prefer to put it that way, and I told her to bring me some burnt sugar and some hot water and a little whisky. You see, I've got a cold."

"Cold?" whooped Larry. "Listen, lady, do you hear this guy sayin' he's got a cold? What he's really got is callopin' consumption!"
